Proceeds of lands sold under the mistaken assumption that they had escheated to the state are to be repaid out of the school fund. 9 Atty. Gen. 296.

Where, in making the report provided for by sec. 1915m (1), Stats. 1921, an attorney failed to deduct the amount paid to subscribers, the excess paid into the state treasury by reason of such failure may be refunded. 10 Atty. Gen. 952.

A claim for refund by a foreign corporation on account of error in its report resulting in payment of excess fee into state treasury should be allowed. 13 Atty. Gen. 545.

Money paid as a fine into the state treasury after a new trial has been granted is paid in error and may be refunded. 21 Atty. Gen. 364.

A motor vehicle hauling permit fee collected by the public service commission under erroneous construction of the law may be refunded as having been paid in error. 21 Atty. Gen. 432.

Where an owner applied for and received a license for operation of a vehicle of certain gross weight, which exceeded the allowable weight under other highway laws, he was not entitled to refund of the excess license fee based on his theory that the issuing agency was not authorized to issue a license for such excess weight. 28 Atty. Gen. 296.

Motor vehicle taxes may be refunded. Prior opinions holding that such taxes may not be refunded are overruled. 29 Atty. Gen. 329.

Where a register in probate charges excessive fees in error and pays them into the state treasury, refunds should be made rather than deducting the excess from the next remittance, although this has been done in some cases. 43 Atty. Gen. 291.

State officers may not charge, to the state, car fare in going from their homes to their offices but may charge the same when going from or returning to Madison on official business. 1908 Atty. Gen. 84; 1 Atty. Gen. 508.

An employe of the state having his headquarters at some place other than Madison is entitled to his expenses if called to Madison temporarily. 1 Atty. Gen. 519.

A bank examiner who lives in Shorewood but whose official residence is in Milwaukee cannot charge car fare between Shorewood and Milwaukee, nor can he charge for noon-day meal in Milwaukee. 17 Atty. Gen. 380.

Where a state employe traveling between Madison and Milwaukee in performance of his official duties uses his own car, the charge to be made to the state for use of the car must depend upon facts in each particular case. The decision of the chief officer as to necessity for use of car and basis of charge therefor is final. 18 Atty. Gen. 262.

Where a state employe drives his own car and receives compensation therefor, he may not accept additional compensation from other state employes who may ride with him, and such other state employes may not receive from the state as expenses any amount so paid. 20 Atty. Gen. 882.

The director of a state department may allow employes to attend meetings and conventions, on state time and on state salary, where such attendance aids the performance of the statutory duties of the department. Under such circumstances an employe is entitled to reimbursement of expenses within the limitations prescribed. 42 Atty. Gen. 322.

See note to 289.01, on priority of liens, citing Fulton v. State A. & I. Board, 204 W 355, 236 NW 120.

The state armory board, established by 21.615, Stats. 1967, and expressly made a body politic and corporate, empowered (a) to sue and be sued, (b) to convey real estate and to dispose of personal property without authority from the state, (c) to hold and disburse its funds independent of state warrants, and (d) to borrow money and issue and sell bonds and other evidences of indebtedness to accomplish its purposes, constitutes an independent body politic and is not an arm of the state, and hence can be sued to enforce liability for its torts. Majerus v. Milwaukee County, 39 W (2d) 311, 159 NW (2d) 86.

The state armory board and state quarter-master-general have no power to enter into a lease for quarters to be occupied by a company of the Wisconsin national guard, and no power to take an assignment and pay rent under the existing lease entered into for such quarters. 9 Atty. Gen. 201.

The state armory board cannot accept a deed to armory property, from a city to which it was deeded upon condition for a reversion under circumstances stated and subject to a lease, unless there is first obtained a quitclaim deed from the holders of the reversionary interest and from the lessees. 10 Atty. Gen. 53.

A state board, authorized to purchase encumbered property, has no power to agree to pay the encumbrance. The power to purchase encumbered property in fee does not include the power to accept a conditional fee. 10 Atty. Gen. 777.

Under the authority to use certain funds for the "acquisition" of armories, the armory board may use such funds to pay off the encumbrances on armories already owned by the state. 10 Atty. Gen. 812.

A deed containing the words "to be used as armory site" cannot be accepted by the state. 11 Atty. Gen. 524.

A statement in a deed that it is given for the purpose of providing an armory does not create a condition subsequent and such deed can be accepted by the state. Upon failure of the state to maintain an armory, title does not revert to the grantors but remains in the state. The armory board under certain conditions is empowered to re-convey property to grantors. 13 Atty. Gen. 596.

Razing of a condemned armory and sale or lease of the site are discussed in 29 Atty. Gen. 172.

A municipality has no power to levy special assessments against national guard armory property owned by the state armory board. 39 Atty. Gen. 246.

Under 21.615 (4), Stats. 1965, the leasing of property owned by the state armory board to private individuals would not affect the tax-exempt status. 55 Atty. Gen. 259.
