

STATE OF WISCONSIN
Assembly Journal
Eighty-Eighth Regular Session

2:00 P.M.

MONDAY, January 5, 1987

The assembly was called to order by the chief clerk of the 1985 session, Joanne Duren.

The prayer was offered by Representative Dismas Becker of the 7th Assembly District.

"As we begin a new year and a new biennium it is a time to put to rest all past regrets. It is a time to renew old and new hopes. It is a time to reflect on the vision of our founding fathers, especially in this year, the 200th anniversary of our constitution. We are all aware of the hardships these times have for the homeless in our cities, for those who have lost their farm, their job, their hope. It is a time for us to be strong. As we swear to serve the people of Wisconsin through our constitution today, we ask for the grace of vision, that vision possessed by the writers of our constitution. Give us the ability to act upon our convictions, not necessarily to follow that which is popular, but to act upon that which is just and compassionate. Give us the will and fortitude to sacrifice in order to help those less fortunate. Give us the character to put aside personal satisfaction for the satisfaction of the common good. Give us the wisdom to respect difference in order that we might learn from one another's visions. Give us that love which enables us to act as one. Give us the compassion not only for those we represent but for one another that we might respect even those with whom we differ.

We pray that your grace enable our actions to be a hope for those in despair, a light for those in darkness, a joy for those we serve. We pray that our work will be an instrument of peace, hope, justice. Together let our actions give the opportunity for the people of this state to revive the hope and dreams of yesterday as they plan and build for a better tomorrow. Amen."

Representative Loftus led the membership in reciting the pledge of allegiance to the flag of the United States of America.

REMARKS BY THE SPEAKER

“Thank you. I consider it a privilege and an honor to be chosen by you to be the Speaker for a third term.

No legislator in Wisconsin history has served more than three terms as Speaker.

My colleagues know of my love for this house. For those of you who are now being called freshmen, you will find this a great place to be and a tough place to leave.

This Chamber is your arena where, as representatives of 50,000 people each, you will do battle. It is a place of both logic and emotion, high dudgeon and friendly humor. It is humans at their best and every gradation below their best. It's a fishbowl of Democracy.

It is, as you will hear me say on occasion, like the Assembly at Athens in its Golden Age.

Indeed, we are the heirs of Solon who set the reforms in motion for democracy to flourish in the time of Pericles.

Solon was that rare individual at the right place in the right time. He forged the consensus that kept together a society on the verge of disintegration.

Solon was a redistribute-the-wealth kind of guy who went for half a loaf. Conservatives thought he went too far, radicals criticized him for not going far enough.

He got away with a graduated income tax based on property wealth and let more people participate in the fledgling democracy. He said the Athenians didn't get the best laws, but they got the best laws the conflicting groups and interests at that time could be persuaded to accept.

When he had the opportunity to become a permanent dictator, he refused, saying that dictatorship was “a very fair spot, but there was no way down from it.”

Solon clipped the power of the Senate a bit and invigorated the Assembly, letting a more representative group serve in that body.

In the Golden Age the Assembly was the place to be. The Senate was in decline and Pericles was very much a man of the people.

The Assembly was much like the annual meeting. All who were eligible were members.

Each session opened with a sacrifice of a pig to Zeus.

The member who proposes new legislation is responsible for it. If it turns out bad, he may be fined, disenfranchised, or put to death. A way of discouraging hasty legislation that our new majority leader is proposing that we adopt.

A historian described the Assembly this way:

“Only trained orators avail themselves of the right to speak, for the Assembly is a difficult audience. It laughs at mispronunciations, protests aloud at digressions, expresses its approval with shouts, whistling and clapping of hands, and, if it strongly disapproves, makes such a din that the speaker is compelled to leave the rostrum.”

The upper house is described as “above the Assembly in dignity, inferior to it in power.”

So we are lucky, but our colleagues from history, from Solon to Jefferson, and from Milt Lorman to Harvey Dueholm, have set for us high standards.

This session, let's do more listening to people, other than ourselves, who have something to say.

I will send presently letters to all those of both parties thinking of running for President to drop by and address us when they are in Wisconsin. I will also invite others who have something to say to speak to us and I solicit your suggestions.

This session let's defend the Legislature as a beloved institution and pledge not to criticize it unfairly for personal gain.

This session we will continue to work to be an equal branch of government. However, we have a new Governor, he is a Governor of all the people, we only need one Governor, and there is no need for me, especially me, or others, to try to do his job for him.

We will try to make our disagreement with him and among ourselves as civilized as possible so we can accept agreement with grace rather than surprise.

And this session I hope you join me in making this a special two years for our children.

We have in our grasp the potential to pass laws that will help a generation reach their full potential. We can help to make newborns healthy; we can help those at risk with their early education; we can help working parents by making their life of both work and raising kids more do-able; we can help educate about the danger of drugs; we can have good grade schools, good high schools and we can have a university waiting for them that is both academically sound and affordable; and we can do our part to help make sure there will be jobs available when they get out of high school, vocational college or the university.

Its's a great day in the State Assembly. I look forward to working with you. Thank you."

January 5, 1987

Mr. Thomas Melvin
Assembly Chief Clerk
126 West, State Capitol
Madison, Wisconsin 53702

Dear Mr. Melvin:

In order to facilitate the administration of the 1987 spring elections, I request that you include a copy of this letter in the Assembly Journal. There are several proposed constitutional amendments which will be presented to the 1987-88 Wisconsin Legislature for second consideration. If passed, these constitutional amendments must be approved by the people at a referendum election. In order to be placed on the ballot for the 1987 spring election to be held on Tuesday, April 7, 1987, it is essential that final action by the Legislature be completed no later than Thursday, February 26, 1987. This deadline also applies for any statewide referendum questions submitted to a vote of the electors at the April 7, 1987 election.

In order to certify a referendum question the State Elections Board needs to receive an explanatory statement of the effect of a "yes" or "no" vote prepared by the attorney general. This statement is included in the Type C notice of election which is sent to all county clerks for publication before the election. The text of the question must be certified to the county clerks as soon as possible so that county clerks may prepare the ballots. The ballots must be printed so that they are available for absentee voting no later than 21 days before the election. The Type C notice must be printed so that it is posted in each polling place.

Thank you for your cooperation. If you or any other legislators have any questions, please have them contact the State Elections Board staff.

Sincerely,
KEVIN KENNEDY
Executive Director
State Elections Board
