

STATE OF WISCONSIN
Assembly Journal
Eighty-Ninth Regular Session

2:00 P.M.

TUESDAY, January 3, 1989

The assembly was called to order by the chief clerk of the 1987 session, Thomas Melvin.

The prayer was offered by Reverend J. Carl Hillmer of Christ Memorial Lutheran Church of Fitchburg.

"Lord God, we come before you this day with gratitude in our hearts for Your many blessings. As You have seen fit to establish in our midst a State Legislature with law-making powers dedicated to uphold both order and liberty, do so bless and preserve this government of the State of Wisconsin. Grant that our legislators may ever be mindful of the welfare of all of their constituents, Grant that they be guided by motives of unselfishness directed to the common good. Preserve them from all pettiness and self-seeking. Help them to exercise sound judgment in all their decisions.

Protect, we ask you, those liberties of rule by representation which are the cornerstone of our government, and teach us all to use our freedom to the end for which You have established it, namely, peace and prosperity for all citizens. Lead us to prove our gratitude in devotion to the well-being of our great State of Wisconsin, so that its citizens be fully served. Amen."

Representative Loftus led the membership in reciting the pledge of allegiance to the flag of the United States of America.

The oath of office was administered by Justice Shirley Abrahamson of the Wisconsin Supreme Court.

Speaker Loftus in the chair.

REMARKS BY THE SPEAKER

"It is a great day in the State Assembly.

We sit in an Assembly Chamber today that has been brought back to its original magnificence. (Give all those who worked on it a hand).

This is the third capitol building to stand on this site. The present building was constructed after a fire on February 27, 1904 destroyed the capitol.

The West wing, The assembly wing, was the first to be completed and on January 13, 1909 the 49th Legislature was sworn in.

Surprisingly, the day after being sworn in, a Joint Resolution was introduced directing the Capitol Commission to:

"suspend operations on the South Wing of the new Capitol and to have the plans revised to provide for a new and more spacious Assembly Chamber ... The present Assembly Chamber to be subsequently assigned to the Senate."

The resolution did not pass.

Probably the first non-legislative use of this Assembly Chamber was a month later, on February 10, 1909, when Mrs. Florence Richards gave an evening lecture on behalf of a pending "local option" bill. Her visit was sponsored by the W.C.T.U. and the The Wisconsin State Journal described her as "a prohibitionist of world-wide fame [who] has worked against liquor before many legislatures."

The first public ceremony in the Assembly Chamber came the next night, on February 11, the eve of the 100th anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln. The ceremony was officiated over by Governor Davidson. It was reported that the "beautiful new Assembly Chamber" was "appropriately decorated in the National Colors" and the work was "well done." There was a full program of music and speeches with the public invited. Assembly messengers acted as ushers.

On February 16, at 2:30 in the afternoon, the Reverend Jenkin Lloyd-Jones was granted use of the Assembly Chambers for a speech on behalf of the women's suffrage bill. Jones was, among many other things, a famous orator on the subject of Lincoln and had been the main speaker at the celebration of Lincoln's centenary at the University.

That night, however, probably saw the first social event in the new chamber. The officers and employes of the Capitol Building had organized a club, known as the Capitol Mutual Club, for the purpose of becoming better acquainted with the members of the legislature.

Assembly Resolution 12 stated:

"Be it resolved by the Assembly, that the use of the Assembly Chamber and parlor be granted to the [mutual club] on the evening of February 16, to be used by said club for the purpose of giving a reception and ball to the members of the legislature."

It must have been an exciting beginning for that group of men. There were no women members of the 1909 Legislature.

Today we rededicate the Assembly Chamber. We celebrate our election with our family and friends and supporters. And, with our Senate colleagues, we become the 89th Legislature in Wisconsin's history.

And we have a first today because of the election of a record number of women and minority members to the State Assembly. This is the healthiest thing to happen to this body since I have been here. We now have 31 women representatives.

I hope this number grows because it means we are more representative of the people we serve.

I am fortunate to be a first today. Once again you have elected me Speaker. You have given me this privilege for a fourth term. No other Speaker served into a fourth two-year term. And only two others served three full terms.

I thank you very much for this honor.

Something important to all state legislatures this year is the new publication of Mason's Manual of Legislative Procedure.

Paul Mason spent his life setting down and codifying the principles of parliamentary procedure for public bodies--mainly State Legislatures. Prior to his death, he assigned the copyright of his manual to the National Conference of State Legislatures (NCSL) with the request the book be updated and re-published.

After four years of work, it is done.

Today, his thoughts about debate bear repeating. I think they express what this body has preserved better than perhaps any other Legislative House or Senate in the country: The tradition of meaningful debate.

Mason says:

"The purpose of legislative bodies is to reach their best joint judgement on the questions presented to them for decision. The decision is the decision of the group, not of the individual members. To reach the joint judgement of the body, the exchange of thought and the reasons of the members are essential. That exchange of thought is through debate. Every member has the right to present his thoughts and opinions and to argue and attempt to convince the other members of the group.”

Unfortunately, we are the first Legislature to serve under the Supreme Court's decision that extended the Governor's partial veto power to the point where the Wisconsin Governor is also a legislature.

We are the constitutionally weakest Legislature ever. We are now probably the third or fourth weakest legislature in the country. The Court's majority eviscerated this institution and if we don't adjust in this session, we will have sealed the fate of future legislatures.

The Wisconsin Governor, in an appropriation bill, can cross out a digit to make a new number; a letter to make a new word; and words to make new sentences. He can legislate with his pen with only 1/3 plus one of one house needed to uphold his new law.

It was a court-ordered coup. The Court's majority dealt us a body blow that made us less than co-equal. They made us junior partners in our system of checks and balances. The court gave the Governor the power to make law by decree.

I question whether Wisconsin has a Republican form of Government as envisioned by the U.S. Constitution.

The partial veto, added to the constitution in 1930, was to be an alternative to an all-or-nothing choice. Other states used the word item, but Wisconsin used the word "part" to reach not only appropriation items, but also riders.

The partial veto was a response to the new omnibus budget bill adopted in the 1920's to replace the practice of having a separate budget bill for each state agency.

The omnibus budget bill is our Achilles' heel but we love it so. If we are to be equal again, we must change the budget process. If we don't act this session, we will forget what we are supposed to be and once were.

I don't know what this session holds, but I am optimistic. The 1909 Legislature seemed to have a quiet time. The county option bill did not pass, and women's suffrage was not to arrive until 1919.

In case you are wondering, Jenkin Lloyd-Jones was Frank Lloyd Wright's uncle.

And finally, while reading newspaper accounts of the 1909 activities, I was surprised to learn the Assembly has two mottoes.

They can be found inscribed at the top of the wall at the west end of the chamber floor. We had forgotten they were there!

The first, on the importance of law to liberty, is on the south end. At the north end is this saying by Abraham Lincoln:

“Let us have faith that right makes might, and in that faith let us dare to do our duty as we understand it.”

Thank you.”

ELECTION OF SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

Representative Bolle nominated Representative Clarenbach for the position of speaker pro tempore of the assembly.

1987 Senate Joint Resolution 53 Enrolled No. 47

ENROLLED JOINT RESOLUTION

To amend section 4 (1), (2), (4) and (5) of article VI of the constitution, relating to the county office of surveyor (first consideration).

Resolved by the senate, the assembly concurring, That:

SECTION 1. Section 4 (1), (2), (4) and (5) of article VI of the constitution are amended to read:

[Article VI] Section 4. (1) ~~Sheriffs~~ Except as provided in sub. (2), sheriffs, coroners, registers of deeds, surveyors, district attorneys, and all other elected county officers except judicial officers and chief executive officers, shall be chosen by the electors of the respective counties once in every 2 years.

(2) (a) The offices of coroner and surveyor in counties having a population of 500,000 or more are abolished. Counties not having a population of 500,000 ~~shall have the option of retaining~~ may convert the elective county office of coroner ~~or instituting a~~ to an appointive medical examiner system. Two or more counties may institute a joint medical examiner system.

(b) Subject to procedures established by law and coinciding with the end of an elected surveyor's term, the county board of any county may convert the office of surveyor to an office filled by appointment by the county board, assign additional duties to the surveyor or assign the duties of that office to any other appointive county office. Two or more counties with an appointive office of surveyor may institute a joint surveyor system.

(4) (a) The governor may remove any elected county officer mentioned in this section, giving to the officer a copy of the charges and an opportunity of being heard.

(b) Any county officer appointed by the county board may be removed by the county board as provided by law.

(5) ~~All vacancies~~ (a) Any vacancy in the offices an elected office of sheriff, coroner, register of deeds, surveyor or district attorney shall be filled by appointment by the governor. The person appointed to fill a vacancy in a county office filled by election shall hold office only for the unexpired portion of the term to which appointed and until a successor shall be elected and qualified.

(b) Any vacancy in a county office filled by appointment by the county board shall be filled as provided by law.

SECTION 2. Text of section 4 (1) of article VI. If, prior to or simultaneously with the ratification by the people of the amendment proposed in this joint resolution, any other ratified amendment changes the wording of section 4 (1) of article VI of the constitution, the chief of the legislative reference bureau shall incorporate the present amendment into the text of that section so that both amendments are given effect.

SECTION 3. Numbering of new paragraph. The new paragraph in subsection (2) of section 4 of article VI of the constitution, created in this joint resolution, shall be designated by the next open paragraph letter in that subsection if, prior to or simultaneously with the ratification by the people of the amendment proposed in this joint resolution, any other ratified amendment has created a paragraph "(b)" of subsection (2) of section 4 of article VI of the constitution of this state. If several joint resolutions simultaneously create section 4 (2) (b) of article VI, the chief of the legislative reference bureau shall determine the sequence and the numbering.

Be it further resolved, That this proposed amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election and that it be published for 3 months previous to the time of holding such election.

Resolved by the assembly, the senate concurring, That:

SECTION 1. Section 1 of article VIII of the constitution is amended to read:

[Article VIII] Section 1. The rule of taxation shall be uniform ~~but the~~ except as follows:

(1) (a) Except as authorized by law for capital expenditures, the proceeds of the tax on property shall not be used to operate the common schools.

(b) The legislature may ~~empower~~ by law authorize cities, villages or towns to collect and return taxes on real estate located therein by optional methods.

(2) Taxes shall be levied upon such real property with such classifications as to forests and minerals including or separate or severed from the land, as the legislature ~~shall prescribe~~ prescribes by law. Taxation of agricultural land and undeveloped land, both as defined by law, need not be uniform with the taxation of each other nor with the taxation of other real property.

(3) Taxation of merchants' stock-in-trade, manufacturers' materials and finished products, and livestock need not be uniform with the taxation of real property and other personal property, but the taxation of all such merchants' stock-in-trade, manufacturers' materials and finished products and livestock shall be uniform, except that the legislature may provide by law that the value thereof shall be determined on an average basis. ~~Taxes may also be imposed~~

(4) The legislature may by law impose taxes on incomes, privileges and occupations, which. Such taxes may be graduated and progressive, and reasonable exemptions may be provided.

SECTION 2. Section 3 of article X of the constitution is renumbered section 3 (1) of article X.

SECTION 3. Section 3 (2) of article X of the constitution is created to read:

[Article X] Section 3 (2) School districts may determine school curriculum, subject only to this constitution and to such enactments by the legislature, of statewide concern, as with uniformity shall affect every school district.

SECTION 4. Section 4 of article X of the constitution is amended to read:

[Article X] Section 4. Each town, village and city ~~shall be required to~~, if authorized by a law enacted under section 1 (4) of article VIII, may raise by tax, annually, for the support of common schools therein, a sum not less than one-half the amount received by such town, village or city respectively for school purposes from the income of the school fund.

SECTION 5. Section 17 of article XIV of the constitution is created to read:

[Article XIV] Section 17. Section 1 (1) (a) of article VIII, as created by the 1987/1989 amendment relating to abolishing the use of the property tax for school operations, shall be implemented over a period of 10 school budget years as follows:

(1) In each school district, the property tax levy for the operation of the common schools, excluding any amount for capital expenditures, shall be frozen at the amount levied:

(a) During the 1989-90 school budget year if ratification occurs at the spring election in 1989;

(b) During the 1990-91 school budget year if ratification occurs at the spring election in 1990; or

(c) During the 1991-92 school budget year if ratification occurs at the general election in 1990.

(2) For the school budget year following the year for which the amount is frozen under sub. (1), the amount for common school operating expenses, excluding capital expenditures, shall in each school district be at least one-tenth less than the amount authorized in the year of the freeze.

(3) For each of the succeeding 9 school budget years, the amount for common school operating expenses budgeted for the current school budget year, excluding capital expenditures, shall in each school district be reduced for the succeeding school budget year by an amount not less than the required one-tenth reduction under sub. (2).

(4) Beginning with the 11th school budget year following the freeze year under sub. (1), except as authorized by law for capital expenditures, the proceeds of the tax on property shall not be used to operate the common schools.

SECTION 6. Numbering of new section. The new section of article XIV of the constitution, created in this joint resolution, shall be designated by the next higher open whole section number in that article if, prior to or simultaneously with the ratification by the people of the amendment proposed in this joint resolution, any other ratified amendment has created a "section 17" of article XIV of the constitution of this state.

Be it further resolved, That this proposed amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election and that it be published for 3 months previous to the time of holding such election.

1987 Senate Joint Resolution 71

Enrolled No. 76

ENROLLED JOINT RESOLUTION

To amend section 10 of article V of the constitution, relating to the veto procedure for appropriation bills (first consideration).

Resolved by the senate, the assembly concurring, That:

JOURNAL OF THE ASSEMBLY [January 3, 1989]

SECTION 1. Section 10 of article V of the constitution is amended to read:

[Article V] Section 10 (1) (a) Every bill which shall have passed the legislature shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the governor; ~~if he approve, he shall sign it, but if not, he~~

(b) If the governor approves and signs the bill, the bill shall become law. Appropriation bills may be approved in whole or in part by the governor, and the part approved shall become law.

(c) In approving an appropriation bill in part, the governor may not create a new word by rejecting individual letters in the words of the enrolled bill.

(2) (a) If the governor rejects the bill, the governor shall return it the bill, together with his the objections in writing, to that the house in which it shall have the bill originated, who. The house of origin shall enter the objections at large upon the journal and proceed to reconsider it. Appropriation bills may be approved in whole or in part by the governor, and the part approved shall become law, and the part objected to shall be returned in the same manner as provided for other bills the bill. If, after such reconsideration, two-thirds of the members present shall agree to pass the bill, or the part of the bill objected to notwithstanding the objections of the governor, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and if approved by two-thirds of the members present it shall become a law. But in

(b) The rejected part of an appropriation bill, together with the governor's objections in writing, shall be returned to the house in which the bill originated. The house of origin shall enter the objections at large upon the journal and proceed to reconsider the rejected part of the appropriation bill. If, after such reconsideration, two-thirds of the members present agree to approve the rejected part notwithstanding the objections of the governor, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and if approved by two-thirds of the members present the rejected part shall become law.

(c) In all such cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas ayes and nays noes, and the names of the members voting for or against passage of the bill or the rejected part of the bill objected to, notwithstanding the objections of the governor shall be entered on the journal of each house respectively. If any

(3) Any bill shall not be returned by the governor within six 6 days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same the governor shall be a law unless the legislature shall, by their final adjournment, prevent its prevents the bill's return, in which case it shall not be a law.

Be it further resolved, That this proposed amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election and that it be published for 3 months previous to the time of holding such election.
