To the Honorable the Legislature:

Enclosed you will find the Job Training Plan summaries for the seventeen (17) Private Industry Councils in Wisconsin. These plans provide a summary of how $22,178,000 of job training services will be provided to approximately 11,000 individuals between July of 1994 and June of 1995. We anticipate that the same amount of funding and job training services will be available for Program Year July 1995 through June of 1996. Individuals eligible for these services include economically disadvantaged youth, adults, older workers and dislocated workers.

The plan summaries are transmitted as required by the Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA), Public Law 102-367, Section 105(a)(1)(B)(i).

Pursuant to the requirements of section 153.35(1), Wis. Stat., I am pleased to submit to the Governor and to the Legislature the quarterly Health Care Data Report. This report is based on hospital inpatient discharge data reported to the Office of Health Care Information by all operating general medical-surgical and specialty hospitals in Wisconsin for the first quarter of 1993 (January - March). It also contains selected outpatient surgery utilization and charge data from general medical-surgical hospitals and freestanding ambulatory surgery centers in Wisconsin during the same quarter.

The report fulfills the statutory requirement to report "in a manner that permits comparisons among hospitals ... the charges for up to 100 health care services or diagnostic-related groups selected by the office."

March 7, 1994

To the Honorable the Legislature:

The Department is pleased to submit the 1993 Annual Report on the Status of Bilingual-Bicultural Education programs, as required under section 115.996, Wisconsin Statutes.

The report provides a review of the state's administration and funding of bilingual education in Wisconsin and describes factors contributing to program expansion and continually lower annual reimbursement rates. The number of pupils served from minority language groups, the locations of the state funded programs during the 1993 fiscal year (July 1, 1992, through June 30, 1993), and staff related data are included in the report to assist those with responsibilities for ensuring the continued success of bilingual education programs in Wisconsin. I am confident that you will find the report informational, useful and of concern given the rising numbers of pupils to be served absent a corresponding increase in fiscal support.

If you have questions on any aspect of this report, please contact Dr. William J. Erpenbach, director, bureau for educational equity programs 267-1072. He will be happy to discuss these with you at your convenience.

Sincerely,
John T. Benson
State Superintendent

JOURNAL OF THE SENATE [March 15, 1994]

State of Wisconsin
Legislative Audit Bureau

March 9, 1994

To the Honorable the Legislature:

As requested by the Joint Legislative Audit Committee, we have completed a statistical analysis of the rates at which inmates released on parole before serving full sentences in the state correctional system are reincarcerated for committing new offenses.

By statute, inmates not serving life sentences become eligible for parole after serving 25 percent of their sentences or six months, whichever is greater. Inmates must be released at two-thirds of their sentences, unless they have committed violations while in prison. We compared incarceration experience and recidivism rates for inmates convicted of violent crimes with those committing other, less-serious offenses. It should be noted, however, that any offense for which the sentence is incarceration in the state correctional system carries some significant degree of seriousness.

Fewer inmates are serving until their mandatory release dates of two-thirds of the sentence, and the percentage released through discretionary parole has increased. Of inmates sentenced for violent crimes, those released between 1983 and 1985 served an average of 58.3 percent of their sentences, whereas those released between 1992 and August 1993 served an average of 53.3 percent of their sentences. The percentage of time served by inmates committing less-serious offenses dropped from 64.5 percent to 53.4 percent of their sentences during the same period.

Violent offenders released between 1980 and 1989 had a higher recidivism rate, 33.6 percent, than less-serious offenders, 28.4 percent. In addition, our analysis indicates that inmates who were judged by the State Parole Commission to be the best risks for early release did have lower recidivism rates than those judged to be poor risks.

We appreciate the courtesy and cooperation extended to us by the Parole Commission and staff of the Department of Corrections.

Sincerely,
Dale Cattanach
State Auditor
