Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Under current law, a person who finds money or goods worth $3 or more is required to give written notice of the find to the clerk of the town where the money or goods were found. If the goods are worth $25 or more, the finder must give notice of the goods to the town clerk and have a notice of the find published twice in a newspaper. If no one claims the goods within 2 months, the town chairperson is required to appraise the goods. If the owner of the lost money or goods appears within one year after the notice is given to the town clerk, current law requires the finder to return the money or goods to the owner after the owner pays all costs incurred by the town and reasonable compensation to the finder. If no owner appears within the one-year period, current law requires the finder to pay 50% of the value of the money or goods to the town, after deducting all legal charges, and keep the remainder.

This bill requires the finder of money or goods worth more than $25 to give notice to the law enforcement agency of the city, village or town where the property is found. The bill increases the minimum value of goods that require an appraisal and newspaper notice from $25 to $100. The bill requires the law enforcement agency, not the town chairperson, to appraise the found goods. The bill changes the time during which the owner can come forward and claim the goods from one year to 90 days after the notice is provided to the law enforcement agency. If the owner does not come forward within the 90-day period, the bill provides that the finder becomes the owner of the money or goods. If the money or goods are found by a public official, employe or agent, the money or goods revert to the public agency if the owner does not come forward to claim the money or goods.

For further information see the state and local fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.
