1 AN ACT.... relating to: classification of jail prisoners for the purpose of
2 determining prisoner housing assignments, the type of prisoner supervision
3 and the delivery of services and programs to prisoners.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Under current law, a county jail must keep certain prisoners separate from other prisoners. Prisoners who have not been convicted must be kept separate from prisoners who have been convicted, prisoners who are mentally ill must be kept separate from prisoners who are not mentally ill, and prisoners of different sexes must be kept separate. However, a sheriff, jailer or keeper of the jail may permit prisoners of different sexes to dine together or to participate together in treatment or in educational, vocational, religious or athletic activities, if the prisoners are under such supervision that the sheriff, jailer or keeper of the jail considers necessary.

This bill provides county jails the option of segregating prisoners under current law or of establishing a prisoner classification system, ~~Under the prisoner classification system, the sheriff, jailer or keeper of a jail to establish a prisoner classification system,~~ which shall be used for the purpose of determining prisoner housing assignments, the type of prisoner supervision and the delivery of services and programs to prisoners. The prisoner classification system must be based on objective criteria, which include a prisoner's criminal offense record and gender, information relating to the current offense for which he or she is sentenced, the prisoner's history of behavior in jail and medical and mental health condition and any other factor necessary to provide for the protection of prisoners, staff and the general public.

Under the bill, the option of employing the segregation system set forth in current law expires on January 1, 2002. By that date, all jails must adopt a prisoner classification system meeting the requirements discussed above.

For further information see the local fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.
