Assumptions Used in Arriving at Fiscal Estimate

This bill provides that, as a condition of release, people who have committed certain crimes are prohibited from use of or access to the internet. Currently, people on conditional release are subject to the custody and control of DHFS and must abide by conditions set by the court and by the rules of DHFS. This bill would add another condition of release to the individual release plan already prepared by DHFS. Therefore, the cost of adding another condition could be absorbed within current resources.

To the extent that additional people on conditional or supervised release are revoked due to this added condition, additional costs of incarceration would be incurred.
