7 independent review of certain coverage determinations made by health benefit
8 plans and granting rule-making authority.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Under current law, every managed care plan is required to have an internal grievance procedure under which an enrollee may submit a written grievance and a grievance panel must investigate the grievance and, if appropriate, take corrective action. This bill requires every insurer that issues a health benefit plan to have such an internal grievance procedure. In addition, the bill requires every insurer that issues a health benefit plan, including a managed care plan or a plan covering state and municipal employees, to have an independent review procedure for review of certain decisions that are adverse to insureds. The decision must relate to the insurer's denial of treatment or payment for treatment that the insurer determined was experimental or to the insurer's denial, reduction or termination of a health care service or payment for a health care service, including admission to or continued stay in a health care facility, on the basis that the health care service did not meet the plan's requirements for medical necessity or appropriateness, health care setting or level of care or effectiveness. In order to be eligible for independent review, the amount of the reduction or the cost or expected cost of the denied or terminated service must be at least $500, which may be increased or decreased by the commissioner of insurance (commissioner) based on changes in the consumer price index. Generally, an insured must request independent review within four months after receiving notice of an adverse decision on his or her grievance under the internal grievance procedure.

Under the bill, an independent review may be conducted only by an independent review organization that has been certified by the commissioner. A certified independent review organization must be recertified every two years to continue to conduct independent reviews. The commissioner may revoke, suspend or limit the certification of an independent review organization for various reasons specified in the bill. Clinical peer reviewers, who conduct the reviews on behalf of independent review organizations, must be health care providers who satisfy specified criteria, including having expertise through current, actual clinical experience in treating the condition that is the subject of the review. The insured selects the independent review organization that will conduct the review.

Generally, an insured must exhaust the internal grievance procedure under the health benefit plan before he or she may request independent review. Exceptions are if the insured and insurer agree to bypass the internal grievance procedure or if the insured submits a request to the independent review organization for a bypass and the independent review organization determines that requiring the insured to use the internal grievance procedure would jeopardize the life or health of the insured or the insured's ability to regain maximum function.

To request an independent review, an insured must provide written notice of the request, and of the independent review organization selected, to the insurer issuing the health benefit plan, which must inform the commissioner and the independent review organization of the request. The insured must pay $50 to the independent review organization, which is refunded by the insurer to the insured if he or she prevails, in whole or in part, in the independent review. In addition, the insurer must pay a fee to the independent review organization for each review.

Within three days after receiving the notice from the insured, the insurer must send to the independent review organization all of the information that it used in making the determination in the internal grievance procedure. No later than five days after receiving that information, the independent review organization may request more information from either or both parties, who have five more days in which to supply the requested information. The independent review organization may consider, however, any other relevant information, and any information that a party provides to the independent review organization must also be provided to the other party. Within 30 days after the expiration of all relevant time limits in the matter, the independent review organization must make a determination on the basis of the written information submitted by the parties. If an expedited review is required because of the insured's medical condition, all specified time limits are shortened, and the independent review organization must make a determination within 72 hours after the expiration of all relevant time limits in the matter. The bill specifies certain review standards for independent review organizations, including under what circumstances treatment that was considered experimental by the insurer issuing the health benefit plan must be covered. The decision at the conclusion of an independent review, which is binding on the insured and the insurer, must be in writing and served on both parties.

The bill contains prohibitions aimed at avoiding conflicts of interest for independent review organizations, such as prohibiting an independent review organization from owning, controlling or being a subsidiary of a health benefit plan or an association of health benefit plans. The bill also provides independent review organizations and clinical peer reviewers with immunity from liability for decisions made in independent reviews.

The bill requires the commissioner to promulgate rules relating to such topics as the application procedures and standards for certification and recertification of independent review organizations, additional procedures and processes that independent review organizations must use in independent reviews, standards for the practices and conduct of independent review organizations and additional standards related to conflicts of interest. The commissioner must also approve, on the basis of reasonableness, fees that independent review organizations charge for conducting independent reviews.

Finally, the bill requires the commissioner to determine when at least one independent review organization has been certified that is able to effectively provide the independent reviews required under the bill. When the commissioner makes that determination, the commissioner must publish a notice in the Wisconsin Administrative Register that specifies a date that is two months after the determination is made. That date is the date on which the independent review procedure must begin operating.

For further information see the state and local fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.

9 s. 632.83 and the independent review organization determines that the health
10 condition of the insured is such that requiring the insured to use the internal 11 grievance procedure before proceeding to independent review would jeopardize the 12 life or health of the insured or the insured's ability to regain maximum function.

13 (3) PROCEDURE. (a) To request an independent review, an insured or his or her 14 authorized representative shall provide timely written notice of the request for

12 requires for the review from the insured or the insurer. Within 5 business days after 13 receiving a request for additional information, the insured or the insurer shall 14 submit the information or an explanation of why the information is not being 15 submitted.

16 (d) An independent review under this section may not include appearances by 17 the insured or his or her authorized representative, any person representing the 18 health benefit plan or any witness on behalf of either the insured or the insurer.

19 (e) In addition to the information under pars. (b) and (c), the independent
20 review organization may accept for consideration any typed or printed, verifiable
21 medical or scientific evidence that the independent review organization determines
22 is relevant, regardless of whether the evidence has been submitted for consideration
23 at any time previously. The insurer and the insured shall submit to the other party
24 to the independent review any information submitted to the independent review
25 organization under this paragraph and pars. (b) and (c). If, on the basis of any

SENATE BILL 269

1 additional information, the insurer reconsiders the insured's grievance and
2 determines that the treatment that was the subject of the grievance should be
3 covered, the independent review is terminated.

4 (f) If the independent review is not terminated under par. (e), the independent
5 review organization shall, within 30 business days after the expiration of all time
6 limits that apply in the matter, make a decision on the basis of the documents and 7 information submitted under this subsection. The decision shall be in writing,
8 signed on behalf of the independent review organization and served by personal
9 delivery or by mailing a copy to the insured or his or her authorized representative
10 and to the insurer. A decision of an independent review organization is binding on 11 the insured and the insurer.

12 (g) If the independent review organization determines that the health
13 condition of the insured is such that following the procedure outlined in pars. (b) to 14 (f) would jeopardize the life or health of the insured or the insured's ability to regain 15 maximum function, the procedure outlined in pars. (b) to (f) shall be followed with 16 the following differences:

17 1. The insurer shall submit the information under par. (b) within one day after 18 receiving the notice of the request for independent review under par. (a).

19 2. The independent review organization shall request any additional 20 information under par. (c) within 2 business days after receiving the information
21 under par. (b).

22 3. The insured or insurer shall, within 2 days after receiving a request under
23 par. (c), submit any information requested or an explanation of why the information
24 is not being submitted.

SENATE BILL 269

1 4. The independent review organization shall make its decision under par. (f)
2 within 72 hours after the expiration of the time limits under this paragraph that
3 apply in the matter.

4 (3m) STANDARDS FOR DECISIONS. (a) A decision of an independent review
5 organization regarding an adverse determination must be consistent with the terms
6 of the health benefit plan under which the adverse determination was made.

7 (b) A decision of an independent review organization regarding an 8 experimental treatment determination is limited to a determination of whether the 9 proposed treatment is experimental. The independent review organization shall
10 determine that the treatment is not experimental and find in favor of the insured
11 only if the independent review organization finds all of the following:

12 1. The treatment has been approved by the federal food and drug
13 administration, if the treatment is subject to the approval of the federal food and 14 drug administration.

15 2. Medically and scientifically accepted evidence clearly demonstrates that the 16 treatment meets all of the following criteria:

17 a. The treatment is proven safe.

18 am. The treatment is proven effective for the insured's condition.

19 b. The treatment can be expected to produce greater benefits than the standard
20 treatment without posing a greater adverse risk to the insured.

21 c. The treatment meets the coverage terms of the health benefit plan and is not
22 specifically excluded under the terms of the health benefit plan.

23 (4) CERTIFICATION OF INDEPENDENT REVIEW ORGANIZATIONS. (a) The commissioner
24 shall certify independent review organizations. An independent review
25 organization must demonstrate to the satisfaction of the commissioner that it is

SENATE BILL 269

2 this paragraph must be recertified on a biennial basis to continue to provide
3 independent review services under this section.
