Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES

HEALTH

Currently, from one program revenue (PR) appropriation, the department of health and family services (DHFS) funds certification of first responders-defibrillation, lead hazard reduction, asbestos abatement and grade A dairy operations; registration of sanitarians; licensing of tattooists and body piercers; permitting of tanning facilities, recreational facilities and food and lodging facilities and vendors; approvals of lead instructors; accreditation of lead training; the state costs of licensing, investigation and inspection done by local health departments granted agent status by the department; radiation protection; and the regulation of nursing home expansion. These funds are derived from fees paid by the persons or entities that are certified, registered, licensed or permitted or are otherwise regulated. From another appropriation, DHFS funds radiation monitoring of nuclear power plants, vital statistics activities and the purchase and distribution of medical supplies. These funds are derived from fees imposed on nuclear power plants, payments for medical supplies and fees for providing vital statistical documents. This bill consolidates funding for and payment from all these activities under one PR appropriation.

Under current law, DHFS provides funding under four general purpose revenue (GPR) appropriations for health screening for low-income women, conduct of a women's health campaign, women's health projects, grants for pregnancy counseling, outreach to low income pregnant women, maternal and infant health projects and family planning services. This bill combines the funding of these health services for women and infants under one GPR appropriation.

Currently, funding for the council on physical disabilities is separately appropriated under a GPR appropriation. This bill consolidates that funding with a GPR appropriation for general program operations.

Currently, funding for general program operations of emergency medical services is separately appropriated under a GPR appropriation. This bill consolidates that funding with a GPR appropriation for general program operations related to health services planning, regulation and delivery.

PUBLIC ASSISTANCE

Currently, DHFS provides funding for relief block grants to counties under two appropriations of GPR. This bill combines the funding for relief block grants to counties under one GPR appropriation.

OTHER HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES

This bill transfers funding for foster placement continuation, police athletic league recreational activities in Milwaukee and grants for runaway programs and for court-appointed special advocates for children from a current GPR appropriation under a general category of supportive living to a newly created GPR appropriation under a general category of children and family services.

Currently, DHFS funds programs for senior citizens and elder abuse services under one GPR appropriation and funds the benefit specialist program under another GPR appropriation. This bill consolidates these GPR appropriations.

For further information see the state fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.

The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

HEALTH

Currently, from one program revenue (PR) appropriation, the department of health and family services (DHFS) funds certification of first responders—defibrillation, lead hazard reduction, asbestos abatement and grade A dairy operations; registration of sanitarians; licensing of tattooists and body piercers; permitting of tanning facilities, recreational facilities and food and lodging facilities and vendors; approvals of lead instructors; accreditation of lead training; the state costs of licensing, investigation and inspection done by local health departments granted agent status by the department; radiation protection; and the regulation of nursing home expansion. These funds are derived from fees paid by the persons or entities that are certified, registered, licensed or permitted or are otherwise regulated. From another appropriation, DHFS funds radiation monitoring of nuclear power plants, vital statistics activities and the purchase and distribution of medical supplies. These funds are derived from fees imposed on nuclear power plants, payments for medical supplies and fees for providing vital statistical documents. This bill consolidates funding for and payment from all these activities under one PR appropriation.

Under current law, DHFS provides funding under four general purpose revenue (GPR) appropriations for health screening for low-income women, conduct of a women's health campaign, women's health projects, grants for pregnancy counseling, outreach to low income pregnant women, maternal and infant health projects and family planning services. This bill combines the funding of these health services for women and infants under one GPR appropriation.

Currently, funding for the council on physical disabilities is separately appropriated under a GPR appropriation. This bill consolidates that funding with a GPR appropriation for general program operations.

Currently, funding for general program operations of emergency medical services is separately appropriated under a GPR appropriation. This bill consolidates that funding with a GPR appropriation for general program operations related to health services planning, regulation and delivery.

PUBLIC ASSISTANCE

Currently, DHFS provides funding for relief block grants to counties under two appropriations of GPR. This bill combines the funding for relief block grants to counties under one GPR appropriation.

OTHER HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES

This bill transfers funding for foster placement continuation, police athletic league recreational activities in Milwaukee and grants for runaway programs and for court-appointed special advocates for children from a current GPR appropriation under a general category of supportive living to a newly created GPR appropriation under a general category of children and family services.

Currently, DHFS funds programs for senior citizens and elder abuse services under one GPR appropriation and funds the benefit specialist program under another GPR appropriation. This bill consolidates these GPR appropriations.

For further information see the state fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.

The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:

HEALTH

Currently, from one program revenue (PR) appropriation, the department of health and family services (DHFS) funds certification of first responders-defibrillation, lead hazard reduction, asbestos abatement and grade A dairy operations; registration of sanitarians; licensing of tattooists and body piercers; permitting of tanning facilities, recreational facilities and food and lodging facilities and vendors; approvals of lead instructors; accreditation of lead training; the state costs of licensing, investigation and inspection done by local health departments granted agent status by the department; radiation protection; and the regulation of nursing home expansion. These funds are derived from fees paid by the persons or entities that are certified, registered, licensed or permitted or are otherwise regulated. From another appropriation, DHFS funds radiation monitoring of nuclear power plants, vital statistics activities and the purchase and distribution of medical supplies. These funds are derived from fees imposed on nuclear power plants, payments for medical supplies and fees for providing vital statistical documents. This bill consolidates funding for and payment from all these activities under one PR appropriation.

Under current law, DHFS provides funding under four general purpose revenue (GPR) appropriations for health screening for low-income women, conduct of a women's health campaign, women's health projects, grants for pregnancy counseling, outreach to low income pregnant women, maternal and infant health projects and family planning services. This bill combines the funding of these health services for women and infants under one GPR appropriation.

Currently, funding for the council on physical disabilities is separately appropriated under a GPR appropriation. This bill consolidates that funding with a GPR appropriation for general program operations.

Currently, funding for general program operations of emergency medical services is separately appropriated under a GPR appropriation. This bill consolidates that funding with a GPR appropriation for general program operations related to health services planning, regulation and delivery.

PUBLIC ASSISTANCE

Currently, DHFS provides funding for relief block grants to counties under two appropriations of GPR. This bill combines the funding for relief block grants to counties under one GPR appropriation.

OTHER HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES

This bill transfers funding for foster placement continuation, police athletic league recreational activities in Milwaukee and grants for runaway programs and for court-appointed special advocates for children from a current GPR appropriation under a general category of supportive living to a newly created GPR appropriation under a general category of children and family services.

Currently, DHFS funds programs for senior citizens and elder abuse services under one GPR appropriation and funds the benefit specialist program under another GPR appropriation. This bill consolidates these GPR appropriations.

For further information see the state fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

HEALTH

Currently, from one program revenue (PR) appropriation, the department of health and family services (DHFS) funds certification of first responders—defibrillation, lead hazard reduction, asbestos abatement and grade A dairy operations; registration of sanitarians; licensing of tattooists and body piercers; permitting of tanning facilities, recreational facilities and food and lodging facilities and vendors; approvals of lead instructors; accreditation of lead training; the state costs of licensing, investigation and inspection done by local health departments granted agent status by the department; radiation protection; and the regulation of nursing home expansion. These funds are derived from fees paid by the persons or entities that are certified, registered, licensed or permitted or are otherwise regulated. From another appropriation, DHFS funds radiation monitoring of nuclear power plants, vital statistics activities and the purchase and distribution of medical supplies. These funds are derived from fees imposed on nuclear power plants, payments for medical supplies and fees for providing vital statistical documents. This bill consolidates funding for and payment from all these activities under one PR appropriation.

Under current law, DHFS provides funding under four general purpose revenue (GPR) appropriations for health screening for low-income women, conduct of a women's health campaign, women's health projects, grants for pregnancy counseling, outreach to low income pregnant women, maternal and infant health projects and family planning services. This bill combines the funding of these health services for women and infants under one GPR appropriation.

Currently, funding for the council on physical disabilities is separately appropriated under a GPR appropriation. This bill consolidates that funding with a GPR appropriation for general program operations.

Currently, funding for general program operations of emergency medical services is separately appropriated under a GPR appropriation. This bill consolidates that funding with a GPR appropriation for general program operations related to health services planning, regulation and delivery.

PUBLIC ASSISTANCE

Currently, DHFS provides funding for relief block grants to counties under two appropriations of GPR. This bill combines the funding for relief block grants to counties under one GPR appropriation.

OTHER HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES

This bill transfers funding for foster placement continuation, police athletic league recreational activities in Milwaukee and grants for runaway programs and for court-appointed special advocates for children from a current GPR appropriation under a general category of supportive living to a newly created GPR appropriation under a general category of children and family services.

Currently, DHFS funds programs for senior citizens and elder abuse services under one GPR appropriation and funds the benefit specialist program under another GPR appropriation. This bill consolidates these GPR appropriations.

For further information see the state fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.
