Please review the attached amendment to ensure that it is consistent with your intent. In order to maintain consistency, I have referred to the cost of developing and maintaining the department's computer databases, computer networks and computer systems rather than the cost of developing the department's infrastructure. The term "infrastructure" is used in other statutes to describe roads, bridges and other public works types of items. However, if you think the attached amendment is not faithful to the spirit of the committee's action, please let me know and I will define "computer infrastructure" in this statute section.
