Assumptions Used in Arriving at Fiscal Estimate

This bill creates a new prohibition on persons who are prisoners in municipal or state correctional facilities for the intentional throwing or expelling of certain bodily substances with the intent to harm the person who was the target. It also mandates that the district attorney must seek a court order to have the prisoner tested for certain diseases under specified conditions. There are no data with which to estimate the number of annual instances that would require a district attorneys to prosecute prisoners for such crimes or the number of instances of the need for district attorneys to seek such court orders to test prisoners. If the bill becomes law and its significant new additive penalties are understood by prisoners, then the number of violations may be small.
