AGENCY REPORTS

State of Wisconsin
Legislative Audit Bureau
Madison

January 12, 1999

To the Honorable, the Legislature:

We have completed an evaluation of the Community Youth and Family Aids Program, commonly referred to as the Youth Aids program. Youth Aids is the State's primary means of providing counties with direct assistance to fund county juvenile delinquency services. In 1997, the program funded 45.4 percent of the $181.4 million counties spent on juvenile delinquency services.

Because total juvenile delinquency expenditures statewide have increased at a faster rate than Youth Aids funding, the percentage of juvenile delinquency service costs funded by Youth Aids has fallen over time. In addition, because the formula used to allocate most Youth Aids funding has not been modified or updated since 1981, state-provided county funding has become less connected to need. If the same formula were used with more current data, the distribution pattern would change: funding would increase for 14 counties and decrease for the other 58.

An increasing portion of county Youth Aids allocations is being spent on correctional costs. From 1992 to 1998, the daily rate counties were charged for sending youth to state-operated juvenile correctional institutions increased 42.5 percent, from $108.75 to $154.94, in response to increasing operational costs, the addition of specialized institutions, and declining juvenile populations.

Based on concerns about increases in juvenile delinquency costs, the Legislature has, in recent years, taken steps to assist counties by: 1) increasing the State's responsibility for paying juvenile delinquency costs, and 2) creating less-costly alternatives to out-of-home placements, especially juvenile correctional institutions. To date, however, these initiatives have had limited financial success for counties. We include alternatives the Legislature may wish to consider in addressing county concerns about Youth Aids funding.

We appreciate the courtesy and cooperation extended to us by the Department of Corrections. The Department's response is Appendix III.

Sincerely,
JANICE MUELLER
State Auditor
