AN ACT ...; relating to: requiring a woman upon whom an abortion is to be performed or induced to be informed at least 24 hours before the abortion is performed or induced that she may anonymously and with immunity from liability relinquish custody of her newborn child to a law enforcement officer, an emergency medical technician, or a hospital staff member when the newborn child is 72 hours old or younger.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Under current law, a parent of a child who is 72 hours old or younger (newborn child) may relinquish custody of the newborn child to a law enforcement officer, emergency medical technician, or hospital staff member anonymously and with immunity from civil or criminal liability for any act or omission in connection with that relinquishment. If the court assigned to exercise jurisdiction under the Children's Code (juvenile court) finds that the custody of a newborn child has been relinquished as provided under current law, the juvenile court may terminate the parental rights of the parent who relinquished custody of the newborn child, thereby freeing the newborn child for adoption.

Under current law, an abortion may not be performed or induced unless the woman upon whom the abortion is to be performed or induced has given her voluntary and informed written consent to the performance or inducement of the abortion. Subject to certain exceptions, a woman's consent to an abortion is informed only if, at least 24 hours before the abortion is to be performed or induced, the woman is informed, among other things, that she has the legal right to continue her pregnancy and keep the child, to place the child in foster care, or to place the child for adoption and is given certain printed materials published by the department of health and family services (DHFS). Those materials include a listing of agencies and services that are available to assist a woman through pregnancy, upon childbirth, and while the child is dependent and a statement that if the child is adopted the adoptive parents may pay the costs of prenatal care, childbirth, and neonatal care. Current law also requires the woman to be provided with an opportunity to ask questions, including questions concerning foster care and adoption, and to receive the information requested.

This bill requires a woman on whom an abortion is to be performed or induced to be informed, at least 24 hours before the performance or inducement of the abortion, that she has the legal right to relinquish custody of her newborn child to a law enforcement officer, emergency medical technician, or hospital staff member anonymously and with immunity from civil or criminal liability for any act or omission in connection with that relinquishment. The bill also requires DHFS to include that information in the printed materials published by DHFS that must be given to a woman at least 24 hours before an abortion is performed or induced. Finally, the bill requires a woman upon whom an abortion is to be performed or induced to be provided with an opportunity to ask questions concerning that right to relinquish custody of her child and to receive the information requested.

For further information see the state fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.
