Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Under current law, a law enforcement officer may request a person to provide a sample of his or her breath for a preliminary breath screening test if the officer has probable cause to believe that the person has driven or operated a motor vehicle while he or she has a prohibited alcohol concentration or while under the influence of an intoxicant, controlled substance, other drug or the combination of an intoxicant, controlled substance or other drug to a degree that renders him or her incapable of safely driving (OWI).

Also under current law, a law enforcement officer may request a person to provide a sample of his or her breath for a preliminary breath screening test if the person is driving or operating or on duty time with respect to a commercial motor vehicle and the law enforcement officer detects any presence of alcohol, a controlled substance, controlled substance analog or other drug, or a combination thereof, or the officer has reason to believe that the person is driving or operating or on duty time with respect to a commercial vehicle while having an alcohol concentration above 0.0, or within hours of consuming or being under the influence of an intoxicating beverage, or while possessing an intoxicating beverage.

This bill allows a law enforcement officer to request a person to provide a sample of his or her breath for a preliminary breath screening test if the law enforcement officer detects any presence of alcohol, a controlled substance, controlled substance analog, or other drug, or a combination thereof and the person
