The joint committee on legislative organization is required by s. 13.02 (3), stats., and by joint rule 81 (1) to develop a proposed biennial session schedule early in each biennial session period and submit it to the legislature for approval in the form of a joint resolution. This session schedule must include at least one meeting of the legislature in January of each year to implement the requirements of s. 13.02, stats., and joint rule 83 (3) of annual meetings and the carry-over of measures from the regular annual session of the odd-numbered year to the regular annual session held in the even-numbered year.

Under joint rule 81 (2), by majority action of the 2 houses or of the organization committees of the 2 houses, any floorperiod may be extended by earlier convening than its scheduled convening date or later adjournment after its scheduled ending date. Under this joint resolution, by majority action of the 2 houses, any floorperiod may be adjourned earlier than its scheduled ending date, except that the floorperiod that commences on June 5, 2001, is not authorized to be adjourned until the general fund executive budget bill has passed both houses.

Under joint rule 83 (2), during the periods of committee work preceding the final general-business floorperiod (the floorperiod that commences on February 26, 2002), bills, joint resolutions, resolutions, and amendments may be introduced.

Under joint rule 83 (4), March 14, 2002, the last day of the final general-business floorperiod (the floorperiod that commences on February 26, 2002), is the day on which proposals die for the session, except proposals that have been passed by one house and concurred in, as amended, by the other house, unless, under joint rule 81 (2), the floorperiod that commences on February 26, 2002, is extended and the proposals to be carried forward for consideration during the extension are specified.

Under joint rule 83 (5), no new proposals (except proposals pertaining to a veto review session or to any special or extraordinary session) may be introduced after March 14, 2002, the last day of the final general-business floorperiod (the floorperiod that commences on February 26, 2002).

Under joint rule 82 (1) (g), proposals that have been passed by one house and concurred in, as amended, by the other house as of March 14, 2002, the last day of the final general-business floorperiod (the floorperiod that commences on February 26, 2002), may be considered at the veto review session. This joint resolution provides, instead, that these proposals and proposals for which a committee of conference has been appointed by the houses as of March 14, 2002, are not to be considered at the veto review session.

The joint resolution also contains a schedule regarding adjournment, submission of bills to the governor, and veto review for special and extraordinary sessions.
