The Rainbow Project Child and Family Counseling and Resource Clinic is a non-profit agency serving families of diverse cultural, economic, traditional and nontraditional backgrounds. We serve families with young children, primarily ages 7 and under, in Dane County and the surrounding areas. Rainbow Project provides client centered and responsive services within a variety of settings. These services include long and short term counseling, early intervention, education and prevention services to children, adults, families and the community. These services are intended to: a) help break the often generational cycle of child abuse, neglect and domestic violence, including services to families with patterns which put members at risk for abuse or future mental health problems; b) promote positive change and mental health within families including building, strengthening and supporting healthy parent/child relationships; and c) advocate for the mental health needs and support of families and children in the community.

CHILDREN AND FAMILIES SERVED: Project staff provide services to young children and their families. Children eligible for Rainbow services have been involved in one or more of the following: 1) victim of child abuse, neglect or sexual abuse; 2) witness to domestic violence; 3) presenting problems in social/emotional development and behavior (many children referred to us exhibit aggressive, violent behavior towards others or to themselves, or may often appear very passive and withdrawn from social contacts; many of these children have difficulty adjusting in day care or school settings); 4) identified "at risk," coming from families where stress factors in the home environment indicate there is high potential for abuse, neglect or domestic violence to occur (i.e., presence of alcohol/drug abuse, family history of abuse, neglect or domestic violence; financial crisis; unemployment; mental or physical illness; separation of parent and child; divorce; death in the family, etc.); and 5) serious problems in the relationship between parent and child.

Children and families are referred to us from many sources, including Dane County Human Services, family, civil and criminal courts, self referrals, day care centers, schools, hospitals, law enforcement agencies, Dane County Advocates for Battered Women, mental health specialists, alcohol/drug abuse treatment programs and other community support agencies.

TREATMENT PROGRAM: The Rainbow Project staff includes the Project Director, Child and Family Therapists and Adult and Family Therapists providing:

- Comprehensive assessment of family members and parent-child interaction
- Individual treatment plans for each child and parent, focusing on social-emotional development and behavior changes within the family system
- In home treatment combined with individual, family and group treatment at Rainbow Project
- Field sessions in day care or school programs and foster homes to help children through transitions, to ensure successful integration of children into new settings and to provide consistency and alternatives in permanency planning for young children
- Parent education provided in both individual and group sessions, to help parents learn positive child management skills, to provide child development information and to improve the parent-child relationship
- Advocacy, referral, and follow-up services for waiting list families and for enrolled multi-problem families requiring more than one agency's services
- Follow-up and evaluation services for past clients

PREVENTION PROGRAM

- Consultations in day care, school or hospital programs
- Community education and interagency coordination to promote awareness, information and training on the effects and treatment of child abuse, neglect and domestic violence; also in the areas of discipline, parent education and social-emotional development
