Subject Prosecution by attorney general of prevailing wage law violations

Assumptions Used in Arriving at Fiscal Estimate

The bill states that when DWD or DOT decides there is no merit on a prevailing wage claim, they are to refer it to the department of justice for a second look. A true "second look" would take an attorney several hours, depending on the case and the amount of information DOT or DWD have already compiled. Until a pattern develops which helps the department better predict the amount of cases which will be referred, we estimate that at least 1/4 attorney time would be required.
