COMMUNICATIONS

January 24, 2002

The Honorable James Doyle, Attorney General
123 West Washington Avenue
Madison, WI 53703

Dear Attorney General Doyle:

The purpose of this letter is to request an opinion of the Attorney General. The Attorney General is directed to give opinions in writing “upon all questions of law submitted to him or her by the . . . assembly committee on organization.” [s. 165.015(1), Stats.]

Last week, I announced the state Assembly would soon consider comprehensive campaign finance reform. In addition, I encouraged the Senate to bring up Senate Bill (SB) 104 for consideration. However, I recently learned that in a December 10, 2001 letter to Michael McCabe, Executive Director of the Wisconsin Democracy Campaign (WDC), you declined to support SB 104, as proposed, citing “. . . serious practical and constitutional questions.” Your advice and counsel on the bill’s provisions that are of questionable constitutionality would be most appreciated.

For that reason, on behalf of the Assembly Committee on Organization, I would respectfully ask for a formal legal opinion under s. 165.015(1), Stats., concerning the constitutionality of Senate Bill (SB) 104. Specifically, I would like you to reference the provisions within the bill, as it is currently drafted, that you believe could not or may not withstand judicial or constitutional scrutiny. The committee requests the formal opinion come directly from you. I think you would agree your stature as the state’s elected Attorney General would carry considerable weight in a court of law should a special interest group challenge any future campaign finance statutes.

At this juncture, there is considerable momentum in both houses on both sides of the aisle for campaign finance reform. Your thoughtful and reasoned legal analysis could be of great help as we work to adopt effective campaign finance reform. I thank you in advance for your help and support on this issue. If you have further questions, need additional clarification or seek more information, please contact me.

The Assembly Committee on Organization has approved this letter.

Sincerely yours,
SPEAKER SCOTT R. JENSEN, CHAIR
Assembly Committee on Organization

January 29, 2002

John Scocos
Assembly Chief Clerk
402 Main

Dear John:

Due to my absence on January 24, 2002, I would like to take this opportunity to inform you of how I would have voted had I been present during session. Please include this information in the Assembly Journal.
