Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Currently, the law governing repair, replacement, and refund under a new motor vehicle warranty, commonly called the "lemon law," provides remedies for a person who purchases or leases a motor vehicle, or who otherwise may enforce a motor vehicle warranty (a consumer). Under the lemon law, if a motor vehicle cannot be repaired, the manufacturer must either replace the vehicle or give the consumer, and any holder of a perfected security interest in the consumer's vehicle, a full refund. A full refund includes, in addition to the purchase price and other charges, any sales taxes paid by the consumer at the point of sale. The sales tax is calculated at 5% of the difference between the purchase price of the vehicle and any vehicle the consumer traded in when he or she purchased the vehicle.

Under current law, if a consumer receives a refund under the lemon law and subsequently purchases a motor vehicle to replace the vehicle for which he or she received a refund, the person pays a sales tax based on the full purchase price of the replacement vehicle.

This bill requires a manufacturer, upon payment of a refund under the lemon law, to provide a written statement to the consumer that includes the trade-in-value of the vehicle for which the consumer received a refund and the date on which the manufacturer issued the lemon law refund. Under the bill, a consumer who makes a subsequent purchase of a motor vehicle and presents the written statement to a motor vehicle dealer within 60 days of the date on which the manufacturer issued the refund pays sales tax only on that part of the purchase price that is the difference between the trade-in value of the original vehicle and the replacement vehicle.
