173d AIRBORNE BRIGADE HISTORY

The 173d Airborne Brigade was constituted 5 August 1917 as an infantry brigade and organized 25 August 1917 at Camp Pike, Arkansas as an element of the 87th Division. The Brigade deployed to France in 1918 as part of the Division, but did not participate in any named campaigns. Returning to the United States the Brigade was demobilized January 1919 at Camp Dix, New Jersey. Reconstituted 24 June 1921 in the Organized Reserves as Headquarters and Headquarters Company, 173d Infantry Brigade, and assigned to the 87th Division at Shreveport, Louisiana. Organized in December 1921 at Mobile, Alabama. Redesignated 23 March 1925 as Headquarters and Headquarters Company, 173d Brigade. Redesignated 24 August 1936 as Headquarters and Headquarters Company 173d Infantry Brigade. Converted and redesignated 13 February 1942 as the 87th Reconnaissance Troop and ordered into active military service 15 December 1942. During World War II, when brigades were eliminated from divisions, Headquarters and Headquarters Company of the 173d Infantry Brigade fought in three European campaigns as the 87th Reconnaissance Troop. After the war, the troop reverted to reserve status and was active from 1947 to 1951 at Birmingham, Alabama. It was inactivated 1 December 1951 at Birmingham, Alabama and released from assignment to the 87th Infantry Division.

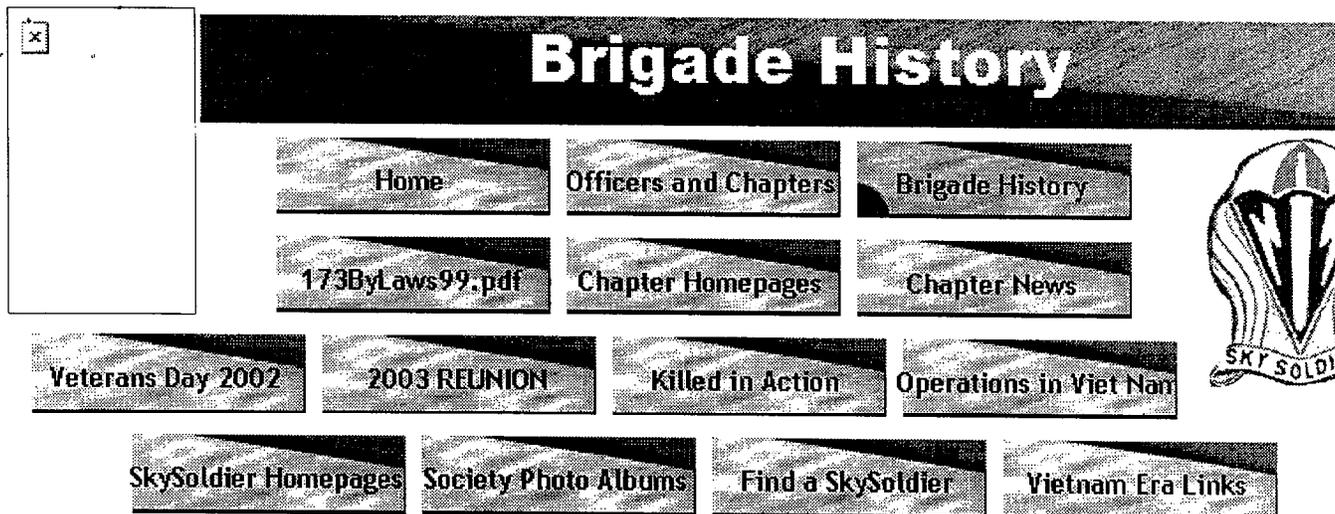

In 1963 it was allotted to the Regular Army and activated on Okinawa 26 March 1963 as the 173d Airborne Brigade (Sep). Brigadier General Ellis W. Williamson commanded the unit, which was given the charter to serve as the quick reaction force for the Pacific Command. Under Williamson the unit trained extensively making mass parachute jumps and they earned the nickname "Tien Bien" or "Sky Soldiers," from the Nationalist Chinese paratroopers. Deployed to Vietnam in May 1965, the brigade was the first major ground combat unit of the United States Army to serve there. They were the first to go into War Zone D to destroy enemy base camps, introduced the use of small long range patrols, and conducted the only combat parachute jump in the Vietnam conflict on 22 February 1967 (Operation Junction City). They fought in the Iron Triangle and blocked NVA incursions at Dak To during some of the bloodiest fighting of the war in the summer and fall of 1967, culminating in the capture of Hill 875. Elements of the brigade conducted an amphibious assault against NVA and VC forces as part of an operation to clear the rice-growing lowlands along the Bong Song littoral. The 1st and 2nd Battalions, 503d Infantry were the first Army combat units from the 173d sent to the Republic of South Vietnam, accompanied by the 3rd Battalion, 319th Artillery. They were supported by the 173d Support Battalion, 173d Engineers, Troop E, 17th Cavalry and Co D, 16th Armor. The First Battalion of the Royal Australian Regiment and the 161st Field Battery of the Royal New Zealand Army were later attached to the Brigade during the first year. In late August 1966, the 173d received another infantry battalion, the 4/503d from Fort Campbell, Kentucky. The 3/503d joined the Brigade at Tuy Hoa in September 1967 following its reactivation and training at Fort Bragg, North Carolina. Another unit assigned was the Co N, 75th Infantry (Ranger). At its peak in Vietnam, the 173d Airborne Brigade (Sep) had nearly 3,000 soldiers assigned.

The troopers of the 173d Airborne Brigade wear their combat badges and decorations with pride. During more than six years of continuous combat, the brigade earned 14 campaign streamers and four unit citations. Sky Soldiers serving in Vietnam received 13 Medals of Honor, 32 Distinguished Service Crosses, 1736 Silver Stars and over 6,000 Purple Hearts. There are over 1,790 Sky Soldiers' names on the Vietnam Memorial Wall in Washington D.C. The brigade was deactivated on 14

January 1972 at Fort Campbell, Kentucky.

The 173d Airborne Brigade was then reactivated on 12 June 2000 on Caserma Ederle in Vicenza, Italy, where it serves as European Command's only conventional airborne strategic response force for the European Theater. Today's Sky Soldiers continue the distinction of honored service earned through service dating back to World War I, and proudly represent the airborne fighting spirit with routine training deployments to Bosnia, Kosovo, Hungary, Tunisia, Morocco, Germany, Italy, Czech Republic, and more. These deployments are an important part of CINCEUR'S theater engagement strategy, demonstrating both a commitment to preserving stability in Europe and the ability to provide immediate response to crisis situations throughout the theater.

HISTORY

The 173D Airborne Brigade was activated on the island of Okinawa on March 1965. The Brigade proved to be an aggressive and unique unit led by (then) Brigadier General Elmer R. English. He established realistic training throughout the Pacific Region.

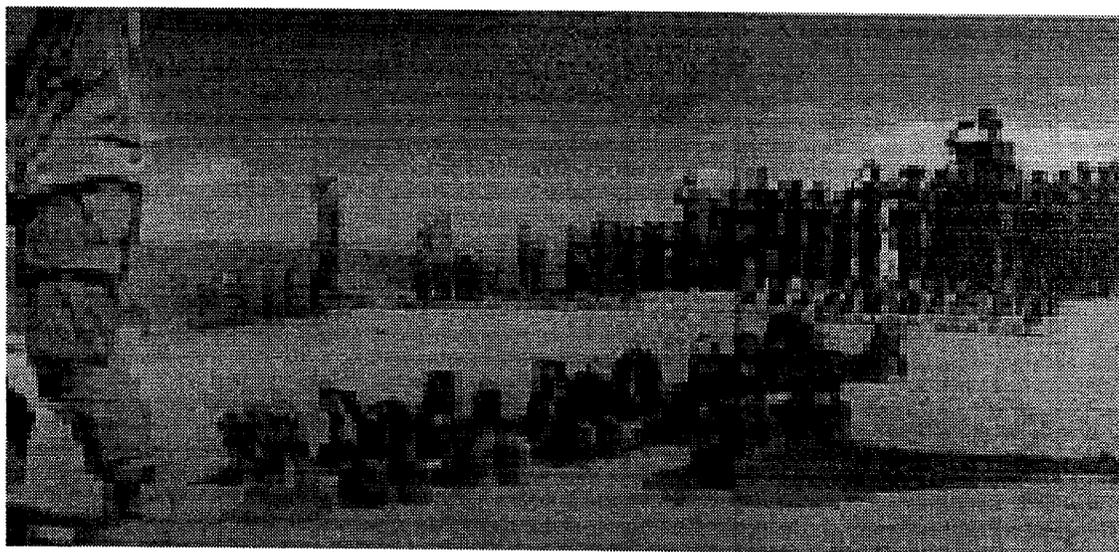

The "SKY SOLDIER," as the Nationalist Chinese paratroopers called the 173D Airborne Brigade, made 173D jumps in a dozen different Pacific area countries. The Brigade was the first Airmobile Brigade of South Vietnam in May, 1965. The major portion of the brigade landed at Binh Hoa area that had been battered frequently by enemy raids and shelling attacks.

In the combat operations to follow, the paratroopers made their superb training pay by going to go into War Zone D to destroy enemy base camps. They introduced the use of the "SKY SOLDIER" concept. They fought the battles of the Iron Triangle, conducted the only major combat in the Binh Hoa area, and blocked NVA incursions during some of the bloodiest fighting in the summer and fall of 1967, culminating in the capture of Hill 875. Elements of the 173D made an amphibious assault against NVA and VC forces as part of an operation to clear the area along the Bong Song littoral.

The 1st and 2nd Battalion of the 503rd Parachute Infantry Regiment were the first to be attached to the Republic of South Vietnam along with the 3rd Battalion of the 319th Artillery, their own Support Battalion and Troop E, 17th Cavalry, D Company, 16th Armored Cavalry.

Royal Australian Regiment, and the 105 Field Battery, 1 RAR AUST Group we during the first year. In Late August, 1966, the 173d received another Infantry which arrived from Ft. Campbell, Kentucky. A 3rd Battalion was formed in ea was shipped to Vietnam on October 2, 1967.

The troopers of the 173D Airborne Brigade (Sep) wear their combat badges a During more than six years of nearly continuous combat, the brigade earned four unit citations. 13 Medal of Honor winners, over 6,000 Purple Hearts, the of the War, and sadly, over 1700 names of Sky Soldiers on THE WALL. The Br January 14, 1972 at Ft. Campbell, Kentucky.

1 AN ACT to create 84.1041 of the statutes; relating to: designating and marking
2 STH 173 as the 173rd Airborne Brigade Highway.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Under current law, certain highway routes and bridges have been designated and marked to memorialize, commemorate, or recognize certain individuals, groups, or events. This bill directs the Department of Transportation to designate and, upon receipt of sufficient contributions from interested parties, mark the entire route of STH 173 as the "173rd Airborne Brigade Highway" to honor the members of the 173rd Airborne Brigade, also known as the "Sky Soldiers," who bravely served their country and brought great credit to this state from 1963 to 1972, including deployment to Vietnam in 1965 as the first major ground combat unit of the U.S. Army to serve there, and who have continued to serve in Europe since 2000. No state funds, other than from contributions from interested parties, may be used for the erection or maintenance of any markers on STH 173 to identify the highway as the "173rd Airborne Brigade Highway."
