Cathlene,

Please have the following three items drafted as a new bill. This is needed for introduction yet tonight, so it will have to be jacketed.

1. Item 67 from SA 121. Modify the material on Page 15, line 22 by inserting "property located in" after "for a tee to". This would create s. 66.0602(3)(f).
2. The change made by LRBb0806/1. This would amend s. 66.0602(5).
3. The change made by LRBb0778/1. This would create s. 66.0602(3)(g).

Let me know if you have any questions.

Thanks,

2003 BILL

1 AN ACT ...; relating to: changes to levy limits related to towns, certain cities or
2 villages, and 1st class cities.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

The 2003-05 state budget bill as passed by the state senate on June 19, 2003, and by the state assembly on June 20, 2003, creates local levy limits which apply to cities, villages, towns, counties (political subdivisions), and technical college districts. The budget bill prohibits political subdivisions from increasing their levy by a percentage that exceeds the percentage change in the political subdivision's equalized value due to new construction, less improvements removed. With regard to technical college districts, the levy limit is the levy for the previous year multiplied by 1.026. Under the budget bill, the levy limits do not apply beginning ^{three} years after the effective date of the budget bill.

An exception to the levy limits allows towns with a population of less than 2,000 to exceed the limit otherwise applicable if the annual town meeting adopts a resolution to that effect. Under this bill, such a town may exceed the limit otherwise applicable if a special town meeting adopts a resolution to that effect.

This bill also allows a city or village ^{ten} which has been providing services for a fee to property located in a town for at least 10 years, and which annexes territory from that town, to increase the limit otherwise applicable in the current year by an amount equal to the city's or village's mill rate applied to the current assessed value of the annexed territory. The limit otherwise applicable to the town from which the territory was annexed is reduced by an amount equal to the town's mill rate multiplied by the assessed value of the annexed territory as of the last year that the territory was subject to town taxation.

BILL

Also under this bill, the limit otherwise applicable does not apply to the amount that a 1st class city (presently only Milwaukee) levies for school purposes.

INSERT

For further information see the local fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

The 2003-05 state budget bill as passed by the state senate on June 19, 2003, and by the state assembly on June 20, 2003, creates local levy limits that apply to cities, villages, towns, counties (political subdivisions), and technical college districts. The budget bill prohibits political subdivisions from increasing their levy by a percentage that exceeds the percentage change in the political subdivision's equalized value due to new construction, less improvements removed. With regard to technical college districts, the levy limit is the levy for the previous year multiplied by 1.026. Under the budget bill, the levy limits do not apply beginning three years after the effective date of the budget bill.

An exception to the levy limits allows towns with a population of less than 2,000 to exceed the limit otherwise applicable if the annual town meeting adopts a resolution to that effect. Under this bill, such a town may exceed the limit otherwise applicable if a special town meeting adopts a resolution to that effect.

This bill also allows a city or village which has been providing services for a fee to property located in a town for at least ten years, and which annexes territory from that town, to increase the limit otherwise applicable in the current year by an amount equal to the city's or village's mill rate applied to the current assessed value of the annexed territory. The limit otherwise applicable to the town from which the territory was annexed is reduced by an amount equal to the town's mill rate multiplied by the assessed value of the annexed territory as of the last year that the territory was subject to town taxation.

Also under this bill, the limit otherwise applicable does not apply to the amount that a 1st class city (presently only Milwaukee) levies for school purposes. Currently, a 1st class city school district is not authorized to levy a tax; the city in which the school district is located levies a tax for school purposes at the direction of the school board.

This bill is void if the budget bill becomes law without the provision establishing levy limit.
