Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Currently, the Elections Board consists of nine members. The governor appoints all of the members of the Elections Board, without confirmation by the senate, to serve for two-year terms as follows: one member is selected by the governor and one member each is designated by the chief justice of the Supreme Court, the speaker of the assembly, the senate majority leader, the minority leader in each house of the legislature, and the chief officer of each political party qualifying for a separate ballot at the September primary whose candidate for governor at the most recent gubernatorial election received at least 10% of the vote (currently, the Republican, Democratic, and Libertarian parties).

Currently, the Ethics Board consists of six members. Members of the board are nominated by the governor, and with the advice and consent of the senate, appointed to serve for staggered six-year terms. All members must be U.S. citizens and residents of this state, and no member may hold any other office or employment in the government of this state or any political subdivision thereof or in any state department. In addition, no member, for one year immediately prior to the date of appointment, may have been, and no member, while serving on the board, may become, a member of a political party, an officer or member of a committee in any partisan political club or organization, or a candidate for any partisan office.

This bill abolishes both boards and replaces them with an Ethics and Elections Accountability and Control Board. Under the bill, the board is composed of nine members serving for staggered four-year terms. The bill provides for the Supreme Court to appoint eight of the members, which must include one member residing in each congressional district in this state. These members then appoint the ninth member. Under the bill, none of the appointments is subject to senate confirmation. No member, for one year immediately prior to the date of appointment, may have been, and no member while serving on the board may become, a member of a political party, an officer or member of a committee in any partisan political club or organization, or a candidate for any partisan office.

The bill creates three divisions within the Ethics and Elections Accountability Board: an Elections Division, an Ethics Division, and an Enforcement Division.

The Elections Division assumes the administrative responsibilities of the Elections Board, the Ethics Division assumes the administrative responsibilities of the Ethics Board, and the Enforcement Division is empowered to investigate violations and bring civil and criminal actions to enforce the elections, ethics, and lobbying regulation laws. Under current law, the Elections and Ethics boards share civil enforcement authority with district attorneys and in some cases with the attorney general; and the district attorneys, and in some cases the attorney general, exercise criminal enforcement authority.

The bill requires that the Enforcement Division include a full-time special prosecutor who has independent authority to investigate and prosecute violations of the elections, ethics, and lobbying regulation laws the without consent of the Ethics and Elections Accountability and Control Board.

Currently, the Elections and Ethics boards have sum certain appropriations derived from state general purpose revenue. In addition, both boards finance some of their operations with program revenue. This bill provides for the general purpose revenue portion of the budget of the Ethics and Elections Accountability and Control Board to be funded with a sum sufficient appropriation.

For further information see the state fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.
