Subject: RE: Obesity draft resolution

The only change I would suggest is in the last "Whereas clause": How about something like "Whereas, unique opportunities exist for work with children, both in the primary prevention of obesity by avoiding initial weight gain, and in secondary prevention by stopping further weight gain; now, therefore, be it..."?

There is no particular item that shows Wisconsin's position now, as opposed to, say 10 years ago--is that because there isn't that much increase, or are those figures unavailable?

Debora/Meg,

I haven't heard anything from Mary Lazich on this. Do you have any suggestions for changes in the draft resolution that I did? If not, should we just finalize it?

Mary,

Debora, Meg and I met earlier this week to discuss a resolution on healthy lifestyles. As a result of that discussion and based on information forwarded to me by DHFS in a draft report (attached), I put together a very rough draft of a joint resolution on the subject. Debora, Meg and I will be working on it some more, but I wanted to share the rough draft with you to see if you have any changes that you would like to suggest before we finalize it as an LRB draft. (Of course, it can still be changed after it becomes an LRB draft.)

Resolved by the [senate] [assembly], the [assembly] [senate] concurring, That:

2003 SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION

~~Relating to:~~ focusing attention on healthy lifestyles in Wisconsin in 2004.

Whereas, obesity and physical inactivity are leading causes of morbidity and mortality in Wisconsin and throughout the United States; and

Whereas, obesity causes almost as many deaths as, and costs more to treat, than smoking; and

Whereas, the annual medical expenses in Wisconsin associated with obesity may be as high as $360 million; and

Whereas, about 22% of Wisconsin residents are obese and another 38% are overweight; and

Whereas, for adults, being overweight or obese is associated with an increased risk for diabetes, heart disease, high blood cholesterol, high blood pressure, certain types of cancer, arthritis, and breathing problems; and

Whereas, the prevalence of obesity among children is a serious nutrition-related problem and a growing public health concern; and

Whereas, ~~children present~~ a unique opportunity both in the primary prevention of obesity by avoiding initial weight gain, and secondary prevention by stopping further weight gain ~~in an overweight child~~; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the senate, the assembly concurring, That the Wisconsin legislature, in recognition of the need to develop and instill healthy lifestyles in Wisconsin residents, encourages persons in the legislature and in executive branch agencies, such as the department of health and family services and the department of public instruction, to focus attention in 2004 on the problems associated with being overweight or obese and to work with individuals, groups, and communities to educate them about the problems and costs and to encourage healthy lifestyles to combat these problems.
