Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

STATE GOVERNMENT

OTHER STATE GOVERNMENT

Under current law, DATCP administers most consumer protection and trade practice laws. This bill transfers all of the administrative authority for certain of these laws, including laws relating to ticket refunds, dating service contracts, mail-order sales, fraudulent representations, methods of competition and trade practices, telecommunications services, cable television subscriber rights, hazardous substances, product safety, products containing or made with ozone-depleting substances, future services plans, landlord and tenant, and time-share ownership, to DOJ. For certain other of these laws, including unfair trade practices in the dairy industry, discrimination in the purchase of milk, and unfair trade practices in the procurement of vegetable crops, the bill does not affect DATCP's authority under current law to administer these laws.

but specifies that the authority to bring a court action rests either exclusively with DOJ or jointly with the district attorney.

Under current law, if a court imposes a fine or forfeiture for a violation of certain consumer protection laws or the laws regulating weights and measures, the court is required to impose an additional consumer protection assessment. The assessments, up to a certain limit, are credited to an appropriation account for expenditure by DATCP for consumer protection and consumer information and education. Under the bill, these consumer protection assessments, other than those imposed for a violation of the laws regulating weights and measures, are credited to an appropriation account for expenditure by DOJ, rather than DATCP. This bill also requires the imposition of the consumer protection assessment for fines or forfeitures resulting from the violation of statutes prohibiting the creation of monopolies and the unfair and discriminatory business practices that hamper competition.

The authority to bring a court action to enforce these laws is transferred either exclusively to DOJ or to DOJ jointly with the district attorney.

Under current law, DATCP is under the supervision and direction the Board of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection. The board currently consists of nine members, seven of whom have an agricultural background and two of whom are consumer representatives. This bill changes the composition of the board so that all nine members have agricultural backgrounds.

The bill also changes the name of DATCP to the Department of Agriculture, Trade, and Rural Resources.

For further information see the state fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.

FOR 2003-05 BUDGET — NOT READY FOR INTRODUCTION

Don't Men. Act.
AN ACT; relating to: the budget.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

STATE GOVERNMENT

OTHER STATE GOVERNMENT

Under current law, DATCP administers most consumer protection and trade practice laws. The authority to bring a court action to enforce these laws rests with either DATCP or the district attorney. Where DATCP has the authority to bring a court action, current law specifies whether DATCP has exclusive authority, or whether it has joint authority with DOJ or the district attorney.

This bill transfers all of the administrative authority for certain of these laws, including laws relating to ticket refunds, dating service contracts, mail-order sales, fraudulent representations, methods of competition and trade practices, telecommunications services, cable television subscriber rights, hazardous substances, product safety, products containing or made with ozone-depleting substances, future services plans, landlord and tenant, and time-share ownership, to DOJ. The authority to bring a court action to enforce these laws is transferred either exclusively to DOJ or to DOJ jointly with the district attorney. For certain other of these laws, including unfair trade practices in the dairy industry, discrimination in the purchase of milk, and unfair trade practices in the procurement of vegetable crops, the bill does not affect DATCP's authority under current law to administer these laws but specifies that the authority to bring a court action rests either exclusively with DOJ or jointly with the district attorney. The bill does not affect DATCP's authority to both administer and enforce certain other trade practice laws, such as those relating to music royalty collection, the substantiation of energy savings or safety claims, and motor fuel dealerships.

Under current law, if a court imposes a fine or forfeiture for a violation of certain consumer protection laws or the laws regulating weights and measures, the court is required to impose an additional consumer protection assessment. The assessments, up to a certain limit, are credited to an appropriation account for expenditure by DATCP for consumer protection and consumer information and education. Under the bill, these consumer protection assessments, other than those imposed for a violation of the laws regulating weights and measures, are credited to an appropriation account for expenditure by DOJ, rather than DATCP. This bill also requires the imposition of the consumer protection assessment for fines or forfeitures resulting from the violation of statutes prohibiting the creation of monopolies and the unfair and discriminatory business practices that hamper competition.

Under current law, DATCP is under the supervision and direction the Board of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection. The board currently consists of nine members, seven of whom have an agricultural background and two of whom are consumer representatives. This bill changes the composition of the board so that all nine members have agricultural backgrounds.

The bill also changes the name of DATCP to the Department of Agriculture, Trade, and Rural Resources.

For further information see the state fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.

DOA:.....Mukasa – BB0264, Transfer of consumer protection functions to DOJ

FOR 2003-05 BUDGET — NOT READY FOR INTRODUCTION

1 AN ACT ...; relating to: the budget.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

STATE GOVERNMENT

OTHER STATE GOVERNMENT

Under current law, DATCP administers most consumer protection and trade practice laws. The authority to bring a court action to enforce these laws rests with either DATCP or the district attorney. Where DATCP has the authority to bring a court action, current law specifies whether DATCP has exclusive authority, or whether it has joint authority with DOJ or the district attorney.

This bill transfers all of the administrative authority for certain of these laws, including laws relating to ticket refunds, dating service contracts, mail-order sales, fraudulent representations, methods of competition and trade practices, telecommunications services, cable television subscriber rights, hazardous substances, product safety, products containing or made with ozone-depleting substances, future services plans, landlord and tenant, and time-share ownership, to DOJ. The authority to bring a court action to enforce these laws is transferred either exclusively to DOJ or to DOJ jointly with the district attorney. For certain other of these laws, including unfair trade practices in the dairy industry, discrimination in the purchase of milk, and unfair trade practices in the procurement of vegetable crops, the bill does not affect DATCP's authority under current law to administer these laws but specifies that the authority to bring a court action rests either exclusively with DOJ or jointly with the district attorney. The bill does not affect DATCP's authority to both administer and enforce certain other trade practice laws, such as those relating to music royalty collection, the substantiation of energy savings or safety claims, and motor fuel dealerships.

Under current law, if a court imposes a fine or forfeiture for a violation of certain consumer protection laws or the laws regulating weights and measures, the court is required to impose an additional consumer protection assessment. The assessments, up to a certain limit, are credited to an appropriation account for expenditure by DATCP for consumer protection and consumer information and education. Under the bill, these consumer protection assessments, other than those imposed for a violation of the laws regulating weights and measures, are credited to an appropriation account for expenditure by DOJ, rather than DATCP. This bill also requires the imposition of the consumer protection assessment for fines or forfeitures resulting from the violation of statutes prohibiting the creation of monopolies and the unfair and discriminatory business practices that hamper competition.

Under current law, DATCP is under the supervision and direction the Board of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection. The board currently consists of nine members, seven of whom have an agricultural background and two of whom are consumer representatives. This bill changes the composition of the board so that all nine members have agricultural backgrounds.

The bill also changes the name of DATCP to the Department of Agriculture, Trade, and Rural Resources.

For further information see the state fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.
