Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Under current law, a person is guilty of burglary if he or she intentionally enters a building, a dwelling, or certain other places without the consent of the person in lawful possession of the building, dwelling, or other place and with intent to steal or commit a felony in the building, dwelling, or other place. A person convicted of a burglary committed on or after February 1, 2003, may be fined not more than $25,000 or imprisoned for not more than 12.5 years or both, except that the person may be fined not more than $50,000 or imprisoned for not more than 15 years or both if he or she commits the offense while armed, commits a battery during the burglary on a person lawfully inside the building, dwelling, or other place, or uses explosives to open a depository in the building, dwelling, or other place (aggravated burglary).

Under the bill, a person also commits aggravated burglary and is subject to the higher penalties for that offense if: 1) the place that is burglarized is a dwelling, a boat with sleeping quarters, or a motor home; and 2) if another person was lawfully present in the dwelling, boat, or motor home at the time of the burglary.

Because this bill creates a new crime or revises a penalty for an existing crime, the Joint Review Committee on Criminal Penalties may be requested to prepare a report concerning the proposed penalty and the costs or savings that are likely to result if the bill is enacted.
