- 1 AN ACT to amend 943.24 (1) and 943.24 (2) of the statutes; relating to: writing
- 2 bad checks and providing a penalty.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Current law prohibits a person from issuing a check, which he or she intends that the check will not be paid. If a person violates this prohibition and the check is for $2,500 or less, the person is guilty of a Class A misdemeanor and may be fined not more than $10,000 or imprisoned for not more than nine months or both. If the violation occurs on or after February 1, 2003, and the check is for more than $2,500, the person is guilty of a Class I felony and may be fined not more than $10,000 or imprisoned for not more than three and one—half years or both. The same penalties apply if the person violates the prohibition on or after February 1, 2003, by issuing more than one worthless check within a 15–day period and the checks are for more than $2,500 in the aggregate.

This bill decreases the dollar threshold separating felony violations from misdemeanor violations from $2,500 to $1,500.
