Yes, because the incumbent governor and Lt. governor or governor-elect and Lt. governor-elect begin writing the budget during this period. The idea is to prevent anyone who has a hand in writing the budget from raising funds when the budget is being worked on.

Rob,
As I read it, the bill would apply to an incumbent governor or lieutenant governor and their committees beginning on the first Monday in January through the date of enactment of the biennial budget act. What you want to add is to expand the coverage to apply to a governor-elect or lieutenant governor-elect and to apply the restriction to these persons (but not other state elective officials) beginning on the day after the general election. Is that right?

Jeff:

Please draft an amendment to AB 66 that would prohibit any newly-elected or incumbent Governor and Lt. Governor or authorized support committee from fundraising from the day after the general election in November of each even-numbered year until the enactment of the state budget.

Like the current bill, it wouldn't apply in the case of a recall.

We need this by tomorrow morning.
Thank you!
Rob

(b) No individual who is serving as governor or lieutenant governor and who has been reelected to succeed himself or herself in that office, no individual who has been elected to the office of governor or lieutenant governor but has not yet taken office, and no personal campaign committee or support committee authorized under s. 11.05 (3) (p) of any such individual may accept any contribution for the purpose of promoting that individual's nomination to or reelection to the office held by the individual beginning on the day after the date of the general election and ending on the succeeding first Monday in January. For purposes of this paragraph, the executive director of the board shall determine, on the basis of media reports, if it is generally acknowledged that an individual has been elected or reelected to the office of governor or lieutenant governor, and shall inform in writing any individual who the executive director determines to have been so elected or reelected as soon as the executive director makes such a determination. In making his or her determination, the executive director is bound by the certification of the chairperson of the board or his or her designee if the certification has been issued.
