Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Under current law, generally, if an income or franchise tax credit claimed by a business exceeds the tax liability of the business for the taxable year, the state will not issue a refund check, but the business may claim the unused balance of the credit against its tax liability for up to 15 subsequent taxable years. Under this bill, a business may claim the unused balance of any income or franchise tax credit against its tax liability for up to 20 subsequent taxable years. The bill applies to all credits related to development zones, to the community development authority credit, to the research credit, and to the supplemental federal historic rehabilitation credit.

For further information see the state fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.
