

2005 ASSEMBLY BILL 369

April 27, 2005 – Introduced by Representatives SCHNEIDER, BLACK, TRAVIS, LEHMAN, POCAN and BOYLE. Referred to Committee on Labor.

1 AN ACT to amend 13.20 (2), 111.825 (1) (intro.), 111.825 (2) (intro.), 111.84 (2) (c),
2 111.91 (4), 111.93 (2) and 230.10 (2); and to create 111.81 (7) (fm) and 111.81
3 (7) (g) of the statutes; relating to: extending the State Employment Labor
4 Relations Act to certain legislative employees.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

This bill extends the State Employment Labor Relations Act (SELRA) to cover legislative policy research personnel, assistants to legislators, research staff assigned to legislative committees and party caucuses, other individuals employed by the assembly and senate, and unclassified employees of all legislative service agencies, except supervisors, management employees, and individuals who are privy to confidential matters affecting the employer–employee relationship. Under the bill, all covered legislative employees are merged into current statewide collective bargaining units for employees in the classified service in accordance with their occupations.

Under SELRA in current law, employees in the bargaining units have the right to vote in an election conducted by the Employment Relations Commission (commission) as to whether there shall be collective bargaining and, if so, with which representative. Mandatory subjects of collective bargaining are wages, fringe benefits, hours, and conditions of employment. The unfair labor practices currently applicable to represented employees are extended to apply to legislative employees covered by the bill, to their labor unions, and to the state as their employer. No compulsory means of dispute settlement are provided.

ASSEMBLY BILL 369

Under SELRA in current law, strikes are prohibited. Strikes constitute an unfair labor practice and may be enjoined by a court. Currently, strikes by covered legislative employees are not authorized, but no law specifically treats the matter.

“Fair-share” (agency shop) and “maintenance of membership” agreements similar to those currently provided for represented employees are authorized. Under an agency shop agreement, the state must deduct the amount of dues uniformly required of all members of a union for the cost of the collective bargaining process and contract administration from the paychecks of all employees in the bargaining unit represented by that union, regardless of whether the employees are union members, and pay the total amount deducted to the union. An agency shop agreement requires the approval of two-thirds of the employees voting in a unit before it may take effect; it may be discontinued according to a similar procedure.

Under a maintenance of membership agreement, the state must deduct the amount of dues uniformly required of all members of a union for the cost of the collective bargaining process and contract administration from the paychecks of all employees in the bargaining unit who are members of the union, and all employees who are hired after the effective date of the agreement, and pay the total amount deducted to the union. A maintenance of membership agreement requires the approval of a majority of the employees voting in a unit before it may take effect; it may be discontinued according to a similar procedure.

Currently, no employment relations act applies to legislative policy research personnel, assistants to legislators, research staff assigned to legislative committees and party caucuses, other individuals employed by the assembly and senate, and unclassified employees of all legislative service agencies. Although these employees may organize and join labor unions, the state is not required to recognize or bargain collectively with them by statute. The commission has no responsibility to conduct elections, mediate disputes, arbitrate grievances, or adjudicate alleged unfair labor practices involving these employees and their employer.

For further information see the state fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.
