Description Allowing a municipality or a county to charge a registration fee for animal-drawn vehicles

Assumptions Used in Arriving at Fiscal Estimate

This bill allows a county or municipality to enact an ordinance imposing an annual registration fee of $40 on animal-drawn vehicles customarily kept in the county or municipality. A county or municipality may determine a registration schedule, and the fee is payable to the county or municipality. The county or municipality must use the proceeds of the fee on animal-drawn vehicles for transportation-related purposes, and for actual costs of administering the fee collection.

The bill provides that if both a municipality and the county within which the municipality is located establish a registration fee for animal-drawn vehicles, only one $40 fee is charged. In this case, the county would collect the $40 fee and divide it equally between the county and the municipality.

The bill also amends current law with respect to a municipal or county registration fee on motor vehicles, to provide that if a municipality and the county within which that municipality is located both have a registration fee for motor vehicles, either the municipal or the county fee, but not both, is charged.

This bill does not involve DOT, and has no fiscal impact on DOT or the Transportation Fund.

Local fiscal impact is indeterminate. DOT has no knowledge of how many counties and municipalities might choose to establish a registration fee for animal-drawn vehicles, or how those municipalities and counties would implement such a fee system, or how many animal-drawn vehicles exist within the state.
