2 and 100.54 of the statutes; relating to: creating a family and school

pertains to the person or to the minor

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

This bill requires the Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection (DATCP) to create, and to monthly update, a family and school communications protection registry (registry). Under the bill, a parent, guardian, or legal custodian of a minor may request that DATCP include in the registry an electronic mail address, a wireless telephone number, or certain other electronic contact information ("contact point") that belongs to, or is accessible to, the minor. The bill prohibits sending certain types of solicitations, identified in the bill as restricted messages, to a contact point that has been registered for more than 30 days. Also, under the bill, an administrator of a school or state institution that primarily serves minors may register an Internet domain name associated with the school or institution, if a pupil at the school may obtain an electronic mail address that contains the domain name. The bill defines "restricted message" as a message in which the primary purpose is to encourage the recipient to purchase goods or services or view material, if state or federal law prohibits purchasing, selling, or possessing the goods, services, or material; prohibits a minor from purchasing, selling, or possessing the goods, services, or material; or prohibits exposing a child to the material.

no # The bill prohibits sending a restricted message to an electronic mail address that contains a domain name that has been registered for more than 30 days. The bill also prohibits obtaining or distributing information contained in the registry for purposes other than compliance with the requirements of the bill. The bill directs DATCP to promulgate rules establishing a procedure by which a person who wishes to send a restricted message to a contact point may verify that the contact point is not a registered contact point or an electronic mail address that contains a registered domain name (verification procedure). DATCP must also establish a mechanism for reporting prohibited messages sent to registered contact points. DATCP may contract with a 3rd party to create and operate the verification procedure and the reporting mechanism.

Under the bill, a person who sends a restricted message to a registered contact point or to an electronic mail address that contains a registered domain name is subject to a forfeiture (civil penalty) up to $1,000 per message or, if the message is viewed by a minor, up to $3,000 per message, subject to a maximum of $100,000 per day. A person who obtains or distributes information contained in the registry for purposes other than compliance with the requirements of the bill may be fined not more than $10,000, imprisoned not more than 3 years and 6 months, or both. If a minor views a prohibited message as a result, the person may be fined not more than $25,000, imprisoned not more than 10 years, or both. In addition, a person who violates the provisions of the bill may be required to forfeit property used in committing the violation.

The bill authorizes a parent, guardian, or legal custodian who has registered a contact point to bring an action for damages against a person who sends a restricted message to the contact point. Also, a parent, guardian, or legal custodian of a minor may bring a private action against a person who sends a restricted message to the minor at an electronic mail address that contains a registered domain name. Under the bill, it is a defense to a private action, but not to a forfeiture or criminal penalty, that the minor consented to receiving a prohibited message.

Under the bill, DATCP must charge a fee for the verification procedure not to exceed one cent for each contact point processed. Eighty percent of the fees collected are appropriated to DATCP for the administration and enforcement of the registry; 20 percent are appropriated to the Department of Justice for enforcement of the registry.

Because this bill creates a new crime or revises a penalty for an existing crime, the Joint Review Committee on Criminal Penalties may be requested to prepare a report concerning the proposed penalty and the costs or savings that are likely to result if the bill is enacted.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

This bill requires the Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection (DATCP) to create, and to monthly update, a family and school communications protection registry (registry). Under the bill, a parent, guardian, or legal custodian of a minor may request that DATCP include in the registry an electronic mail address, a wireless telephone number, or certain other electronic contact information ("contact point") that pertains to the person making the request or to the minor. The bill prohibits sending certain types of solicitations, identified in the bill as restricted messages, to a contact point that has been registered for more than 30 days. Also, under the bill, an administrator of a school or state institution that primarily serves minors may register an Internet domain name associated with the school or institution, if a minor may obtain an electronic mail address that contains the domain name. The bill defines "restricted message" as a message in which the primary purpose is to encourage the recipient to purchase or view material that is obscene or sexually explicit or to participate in gambling. The bill prohibits sending a restricted message to an electronic mail address that contains a domain name that has been registered for more than 30 days.

BILL

The bill also prohibits obtaining or distributing information contained in the registry for purposes other than compliance with the requirements of the bill. The bill directs DATCP to promulgate rules establishing a procedure by which a person who wishes to send a restricted message to a contact point may verify that the contact point is not a registered contact point or an electronic mail address that contains a registered domain name (verification procedure). DATCP must also establish a mechanism for reporting restricted messages sent to registered contact points. DATCP may contract with a third party to create and operate the verification procedure and the reporting mechanism.

Under the bill, a person who sends a restricted message to a registered contact point or to an electronic mail address that contains a registered domain name is subject to a forfeiture (civil penalty) up to $1,000 per message or, if the message is viewed by a minor, up to $3,000 per message, subject to a maximum of $100,000 per day. A person who obtains or distributes information contained in the registry for purposes other than compliance with the requirements of the bill is guilty of a Class I felony and may be fined not more than $10,000, imprisoned not more than three years and six months, or both. If a minor views a restricted message as a result, the person is guilty of a Class G felony and may be fined not more than $25,000, imprisoned not more than ten years, or both. A person who violates the provisions of the bill may also be required to forfeit property used in committing the violation. In addition, if a person is convicted of a crime created under the bill, the court may restrict the person's use of computers for up to three years and six months, if the crime is a Class I felony, or for up to ten years, if the crime is a Class G felony.

The bill authorizes a parent, guardian, or legal custodian who has registered a contact point to bring an action for damages against a person who sends a restricted message to the contact point. Also, a parent, guardian, or legal custodian of a minor may bring a private action against a person who sends a restricted message to the minor at an electronic mail address that contains a registered domain name. Under the bill, it is a defense to a private action, but not to a forfeiture or criminal penalty, that the minor consented to receiving a restricted message.

Under the bill, DATCP must charge a fee for the verification procedure not to exceed one-half of one cent for each contact point processed. Eighty percent of the fees collected are appropriated to DATCP for the administration and enforcement of the registry; 20 percent are appropriated to the Department of Justice for enforcement of the registry.

Because this bill creates a new crime or revises a penalty for an existing crime, the Joint Review Committee on Criminal Penalties may be requested to prepare a report concerning the proposed penalty and the costs or savings that are likely to result if the bill is enacted.

For further information see the state fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.
