Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

This bill makes several changes to current law regarding real estate practice.

BROKERS' DUTIES TO PARTIES AND CLIENTS

Under current law, a broker providing brokerage services owes certain duties to all parties to a transaction, including the duties to: 1) provide brokerage services to all parties honestly, fairly, and in good faith; 2) when negotiating on behalf of a party, present contract proposals in an objective and unbiased manner and disclose the advantages and disadvantages of the proposals; and 3) account for all property coming into the broker's possession within a reasonable time after receiving it. The bill deletes a broker's duty to provide brokerage services in good faith and replaces a broker's duty to account for property within a reasonable time with a duty to safeguard property held by the broker according to rules promulgated by the Department of Regulation and Licensing under authority granted by current law.

Under current law, a broker owes to the broker's client all the duties owed to a party, and additional duties to: 1) loyally represent the client's interests by placing the client's interests ahead of the interests of any other party; 2) disclose to the client all material information known to the broker and not known to the client or discoverable through reasonably vigilant observation, unless the information is confidential; and 3) fulfill any legal obligation required by the agency agreement and any legal order by the client that is within the scope of the agency agreement.

This bill modifies the duty to loyally represent the client's interests. Under the bill, a broker satisfies this duty by doing the following: 1) placing the client's interests ahead of the broker's interests; and 2) placing the client's interests ahead of the interests of nonclients in the transaction by not disclosing information and advice to nonclients if disclosure is contrary to the client's interests. The bill also creates a duty to provide, upon the client's request, information and advice on matters that are material to a transaction and a duty to negotiate on behalf of a client. Under the bill, a client may waive the broker's duty to negotiate, but only in writing.

BROKERAGE SERVICES

Under current law, a person may not engage in brokerage services unless the person is a licensed broker. Currently, brokerage services include promoting certain transactions in real estate or business opportunities. This bill specifies that brokerage services include promoting certain transactions in real estate, time shares, or businesses or their goodwill, inventory, or fixtures, whether or not the business includes real property.

Under current law, a broker may not provide brokerage services to a party to a transaction without an agency agreement that authorizes the broker to provide the services. The agency agreement must contain a statement of the terms and conditions of the brokerage services that the broker will provide. Also under current law, a broker may not provide brokerage services to a party or a client unless the broker has provided the party or client with a disclosure form that: 1) identifies the broker's clients in the transaction; 2) states the broker's duties to the broker's clients; 3) states the broker's duties to a party; and 4) contains a statement, the text of which is prescribed by current law, describing the broker's duties to disclose certain known defects affecting a property and to maintain the confidentiality of certain other information.

Under the bill, a broker may provide brokerage services to any person, whether or not the broker and the person have entered into an agency agreement, except that a broker may not negotiate on behalf of a person who is not the broker's client unless another party to the transaction is the broker's client or is a client of another broker who has engaged the broker to provide brokerage services in the transaction as a subagent (see "Subagency," below), and the broker has provided to the party a disclosure form stating the broker's duties to a person receiving brokerage services from the broker. The bill deletes the requirements that the disclosure form identify the broker's client in the transaction and state the broker's duties to the broker's client. Under the bill, the disclosure form summarizes the broker's duties to parties and the broker's disclosure and confidentiality duties.

The bill creates a separate disclosure form for a broker's client. Under the bill, a broker is required to provide the form to a client not later than the time the broker enters into an agency agreement with the client. The client disclosure form summarizes the broker's duties to clients, the broker's disclosure and confidentiality duties, and the broker's duties if the client is involved in a transaction in which another party is also the broker's client (see "Multiple representation relationships and designated agency," below). The client disclosure form also contains a space for the client to indicate whether the client consents to certain multiple representation relationships.

Under the bill, if a broker is providing services to a person in a transaction in which no party is the broker's client or a client of another broker who has engaged the broker to provide brokerage services as a subagent (see "Subagency," below), the broker may not provide to any party advice or opinions relating to the services the person is receiving if doing so is contrary to the interests of the person or another person receiving services from the broker.

The bill also modifies the current definition of "negotiate." The bill specifies that providing advice or opinions that are material to a person's transaction or showing real estate to a party does not, in and of itself, constitute negotiation.

SUBAGENCY

This bill defines a subagent as a broker who is engaged by a principal broker to provide brokerage services in a transaction but who is not the principal broker's employee. A broker may not engage another broker to provide brokerage services to the broker's client as a subagent unless the agency agreement between the broker and the client authorizes the broker to engage a subagent.

Under the bill, a broker who has been engaged to provide brokerage services in a transaction as a subagent owes all parties the duties owed by a broker who is not a subagent. Additionally, a subagent may not place the subagent's interests ahead of the interests of the principal broker's client in the transaction, or provide advice or opinions to parties in the transaction if doing so is contrary to the interests of the principal broker's client. A broker who has been engaged by another broker as a subagent does not owe the principal broker's client the additional duties that a broker owes to the broker's own client.

Currently, a broker may not provide brokerage services to more than one client in a transaction (multiple representation relationship) unless the broker has entered into an agency agreement with, and made certain written disclosures to, each client, and each client has given written consent. Under current law, a broker who represents more than one client in a transaction may not place the interests of any client ahead of the interests of another client in the transaction.

Under the bill, if a broker's client does not give written consent to multiple representation relationships or if the client withdraws such consent, neither the broker nor the broker's employees may place the interests of any client ahead of the interests of any other in negotiations. A client may withdraw consent to multiple representation relationships at any time by written notice to the broker.

Also under the bill, if a client consents to multiple representation relationships the client may also consent to receiving negotiation services from the broker in a multiple representation relationship only from an employee of the broker who is not providing negotiation services to another client of the broker in the transaction ("designated agency"). In a designated agency relationship, the broker's employee may provide to the client on whose behalf the employee is negotiating information, opinions, and advice to assist the client in the negotiations, whether or not the information, opinions, and advice place the interests of one of the broker's clients ahead of the interests of another client of the broker.

If a client consents to multiple representation relationships but not to designated agency, the broker and the broker's employees may not place the interests of any client ahead of the interests of any other in negotiations.

BROKER LIABILITY

Current law provides that duties imposed on brokers by statutes or by rules supersede fiduciary duties the broker has to a party based on common law principles of agency, to the extent that common law is inconsistent with the statutes or rules. Under the bill, a broker's duties under the statutes or rules supersede any inconsistent common law duties or obligations, not just fiduciary duties based on agency principles.

Under current law, a broker must supervise, and is responsible for, the acts of any broker, salesperson, or time-share salesperson employed by the broker. Under the bill, a broker is responsible for brokerage services provided on behalf of the broker by a broker, salesperson, or time-share salesperson employed by the broker.

The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:

party to the transaction is one of the following:

1. The broker's client.
2. A client of a principal broker who has engaged the broker as a subagent.

(2) MULTIPLE REPRESENTATION RELATIONSHIPS; CONSENT REQUIRED. A broker may not provide brokerage services in a multiple representation relationship unless all of the broker's clients in the multiple representation relationship have consented to a multiple representation relationship in writing.

(3) DESIGNATED AGENCY; CONSENT REQUIRED. (a) A broker in a multiple representation relationship may not engage in designated agency unless all of the broker's clients in the relationship have consented to designated agency in writing. A client may withdraw consent to designated agency by written notice to the broker at any time.

(b) If a broker is engaged in designated agency, the broker's employee who is negotiating on behalf of a client of the broker in the transaction may provide to the client on whose behalf the employee is negotiating information, opinions, and advice to assist the client in the negotiations, whether or not the information, opinions, and advice place the interests of one of the broker's clients ahead of the interests of another client of the broker.

4) MULTIPLE REPRESENTATIONS RELATIONSHIP WITHOUT DESIGNATED AGENCY. If a broker's client in a multiple representation relationship does not consent to designated agency or withdraws consent to designated agency, the broker and the broker's employees may not place the interests of any client ahead of the interests of any other in the negotiations.

SECTION 44. 452.135 of the statutes is repealed and recreated to read:

452.135 Disclosure of duties. (1) (a) A broker may not negotiate on behalf of a party who is not the broker's client unless the broker provides to the party a copy of the following written disclosure statement:

BROKER DISCLOSURE TO CUSTOMERS

You are a customer of the broker. The broker is either an agent of another party in the transaction or a subagent of another broker who is the agent of another party in the transaction. The broker, or a salesperson acting on behalf of the broker, may provide brokerage services to you. Whenever the broker is providing brokerage services to you, the broker owes you, the customer, the following duties:

The duty to provide brokerage services to you fairly and honestly.

The duty to exercise reasonable skill and care in providing brokerage services to you.

The duty to provide you with accurate information about market conditions within a reasonable time if you request it, unless disclosure of the information is prohibited by law.

The duty to disclose to you in writing certain material adverse facts about a property, unless disclosure of the information is prohibited by law.

The duty to protect your confidentiality. Unless the law requires it, the broker will not disclose your confidential information or the confidential information of other parties.

The duty to safeguard trust funds and other property the broker holds.

The duty, when negotiating, to present contract proposals in an objective and unbiased manner and disclose the advantages and disadvantages of the proposals.

Please review this information carefully. A broker or salesperson can answer your questions about brokerage services, but if you need legal advice, tax advice, or a professional home inspection, contact an attorney, tax advisor, or home inspector.

This disclosure is required by section 452.135 of the Wisconsin statutes and is for information only. It is a plain-language summary of a broker's duties to a customer under section 452.133 (1) of the Wisconsin statutes.

(b) If a broker is providing brokerage services as a subagent to a principal broker, the broker shall provide a copy of the written disclosure statement under par. (a) to any person who is not the principal broker's client and who receives brokerage services from the broker within the scope of the agreement between the broker and the principal broker.

(2) (a) Except as provided in sub. (b), a broker shall provide to a client a copy of the following written disclosure statement not later than the time the broker enters into an agency agreement with the client:

BROKER DISCLOSURE TO CLIENTS

Under Wisconsin law, a broker owes certain duties to all parties to a transaction:

The duty to provide brokerage services to you fairly and honestly.

The duty to exercise reasonable skill and care in providing brokerage services to you.

The duty to provide you with accurate information about market conditions within a reasonable time if you request it, unless disclosure of the information is prohibited by law.

The duty to disclose to you in writing certain material adverse facts about a property, unless disclosure of the information is prohibited by law.

The duty to protect your confidentiality Unless the law requires it, the broker will not disclose your confidential information or the confidential information of other parties.

The duty to safeguard trust funds and other property the broker holds.

The duty, when negotiating, to present contract proposals in an objective and unbiased manner and disclose the advantages and disadvantages of the proposals.

Because you have entered into an agency agreement with a broker, you are the broker's client. A broker owes additional duties to a client.

The broker will provide, at your request, information and advice on real estate matters that affect your transaction, unless you release the broker from this duty.

The broker must provide you with all material facts affecting the transaction, not just adverse facts.

The broker will fulfill the broker's obligations under the agency agreement and fulfill your lawful requests that are within the scope of the agency agreement.

The broker will negotiate for you, unless you release the broker from this duty.

The broker will not place the broker's interests ahead of your interests. The broker will not, unless required by law, give information or advice to other parties who are not the broker's clients, if giving the information or advice is contrary to your interests.

If you become involved in a transaction in which another party is also the broker's client (a "multiple representation relationship"), different duties may apply.

MULTIPLE REPRESENTATION RELATIONSHIPS AND DESIGNATED AGENCY

A multiple representation relationship exists if a broker has an agency agreement with more than one client who is a party in the same transaction. In a multiple representation relationship, if all of the broker's clients in the transaction consent, the broker may provide services to the clients through designated agency.

Designated agency means that different salespersons employed by the broker will negotiate on behalf of you and the other client or clients in the transaction, and the broker's duties will remain the same. Each salesperson will provide information, opinions, and advice to the client for whom the salesperson is negotiating, to assist the client in the negotiations. Each client will be able to receive information, opinions, and advice that will assist the client, even if the information, opinions, or advice gives the client advantages in the negotiations over the broker's other clients. A salesperson will not reveal any of your confidential information to another party unless required to do so by law.

If a designated agency relationship is not in effect you may authorize or reject a multiple representation relationship. If you authorize a multiple representation relationship the broker may provide brokerage services to more than one client in a transaction but neither the broker nor any of the broker's salespersons may assist any client with information, opinions, and advice which may favor the interests of one client over any other client. If you do not consent to a multiple representation relationship the broker will not be allowed to provide brokerage services to more than one client in the transaction.

INITIAL ONLY ONE OF THE THREE LINES BELOW:

_____ I consent to designated agency.

_____ I consent to multiple representation relationships, but I do not consent to designated agency.

_____ I reject multiple representation relationships.

NOTE: YOU MAY WITHDRAW YOUR CONSENT TO DESIGNATED AGENCY OR TO MULTIPLE REPRESENTATION RELATIONSHIPS BY WRITTEN NOTICE TO THE BROKER AT ANY TIME. YOUR BROKER IS REQUIRED TO DISCLOSE TO YOU IN YOUR AGENCY AGREEMENT THE COMMISSION OR FEES THAT YOU MAY OWE TO YOUR BROKER. IF YOU HAVE ANY QUESTIONS ABOUT THE COMMISSION OR FEES THAT YOU MAY OWE BASED UPON THE TYPE OF AGENCY RELATIONSHIP YOU SELECT WITH YOUR BROKER YOU SHOULD ASK YOUR BROKER BEFORE SIGNING THE AGENCY AGREEMENT.

SUBAGENCY

The broker may, with your authorization in the agency agreement, engage other brokers who assist your broker by providing brokerage services for your benefit. A subagent will not put the subagent's own interests ahead of your interests. A subagent will not, unless required by law, provide advice or opinions to other parties if doing so is contrary to your interests.

Please review this information carefully. A broker or salesperson can answer your questions about brokerage services, but if you need legal advice, tax advice, or a professional home inspection, contact an attorney, tax advisor, or home inspector.

This disclosure is required by s. 452.135 of the Wisconsin statutes and is for information only. It is a plain-language summary of a broker's duties to you under section 452.133 (3) of the Wisconsin statutes.

(b) If a client enters into an agency agreement with a broker to receive brokerage services related to real estate primarily intended for use as a residential property containing one to 4 dwelling units, and the written disclosure statement under par. (a) is not incorporated into the agency agreement, the broker shall request

SECTION 46. 452.138 of the statutes is amended to read:

452.138 Brokers providing services in more than one transaction. A broker may provide brokerage services simultaneously to more than one party in different transactions unless the broker agrees with a client that the broker is to provide brokerage services only to that client. If the broker and a client agree that the broker is to provide brokerage services only to that client, the agency agreement ~~under s. 452.135(1)~~ shall contain a statement of that agreement.

SECTION 47. 452.139 (1) of the statutes is amended to read:

452.139 (1) ~~FIDUCIARY~~ COMMON LAW DUTIES OF BROKER. The duties of a broker specified in this chapter or in rules promulgated under this chapter shall supersede ~~any fiduciary duties of a broker to a party based on~~ duties or obligations under common law principles of agency to the extent that those common law ~~fiduciary~~ duties or obligations are inconsistent with the duties specified in this chapter or in rules promulgated under this chapter.

SECTION 48. 452.14 (3) (f) of the statutes is amended to read:

452.14 (3) (f) Accepted from any person except the broker's, salesperson's, or time-share salesperson's employer, if the broker, salesperson, or time-share salesperson is employed as a salesperson or time-share salesperson by a broker, a commission or valuable consideration as a salesperson or time-share salesperson for the performance of any act specified in this chapter or as compensation for referring a person to another broker, salesperson, or time-share salesperson or to any other person in connection with a real-estate transaction;

SECTION 49. Initial applicability.

(1) The treatment of sections 452.133 (1) (intro.) (a), (b), (c), (d), (e), (f), and (g), (2) (intro.), (am), (b), (c), and (d), (4), (5), and (6) and 452.134 of the statutes, the renumbering and amendment of section 452.133 (2) (a) of the statutes, and the creation of section 452.133 (2) (a) 2. of the statutes first apply to agency agreements entered into, modified, or renewed on the effective date of this subsection.

(2) The treatment of section 452.12 (3) of the statutes first applies to brokerage services provided on the effective date of this subsection.

SECTION 50. Effective date.

(1) This act takes effect on the first day of the 6th month beginning after the effective date of this subsection.

DRAFTER'S NOTE FROM THE
LEGISLATIVE REFERENCE BUREAU

LRB-1387/5dn

CTS:lmk:jf

September 21, 2005

Representative Wieckert:

This is a redraft of LRB-1387/4. Please review it carefully to ensure it is consistent with your intent, and note the following:

1. I have not added to proposed s. 452.134 language contained in the drafting instructions that requires a broker to provide written notice of a client's ability to withdraw from designated agency at any time. Because the draft already requires a broker to provide to a client a written disclosure form that contains this information, the language in the drafting instructions is redundant.

OK

2. For clarity, I have made minor changes to the explanation of multiple representation relationships and designated agency in the client disclosure form. Is this okay? Also, I have altered the second option in the portion of the client disclosure form in which the client indicates consent to designated agency and multiple representation relationships. Based on the substantive law created in the draft, it seemed necessary that the second option clarify that the client is consenting to multiple representation relationships but not to designated agency. Alternatively, the draft could present just two options: 1) Do you consent to multiply representation relationships? 2) If you consent to multiple representation relationships, do you consent to designated agency?

Ok as-is

3. The client disclosure form indicates that a broker is required to disclose in an agency agreement "the commission fees" that the client may owe. Is "commission fees" correct? Also, to my knowledge, neither current law nor the draft require this disclosure in the agency agreement. If it is required by DRL by rule, it is problematic to include this language in a statutorily-required disclosure. If DRL were to change the rule, the disclosure form would be incorrect until the statutes were amended to revise the text of the required disclosure.

Please revise to read: "commission or fees" (there are two places this revision will need to be made.

4. Because this draft specifies a broker's duties in a multiple representation relationships in a new section, proposed s. 452.134, it appears unnecessary to retain current s. 452.137 ("Brokers providing services to more than one client in a transaction.") This draft therefore repeals current s. 452.137. Is this okay?

ok

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

This bill makes several changes to current law regarding real estate practice.

BILLBROKERS' DUTIES TO PARTIES AND CLIENTS

Under current law, a broker providing brokerage services owes certain duties to all parties to a transaction, including the duties to: 1) provide brokerage services to all parties honestly, fairly, and in good faith; 2) when negotiating on behalf of a party, present contract proposals in an objective and unbiased manner and disclose the advantages and disadvantages of the proposals; and 3) account for all property coming into the broker's possession within a reasonable time after receiving it. The bill deletes a broker's duty to provide brokerage services in good faith and replaces a broker's duty to account for property within a reasonable time with a duty to safeguard property held by the broker according to rules promulgated by the Department of Regulation and Licensing under authority granted by current law.

Under current law, a broker owes to the broker's client all the duties owed to a party, and additional duties to: 1) loyally represent the client's interests by placing the client's interests ahead of the interests of any other party; 2) disclose to the client all material information known to the broker and not known to the client or discoverable through reasonably vigilant observation, unless the information is confidential; and 3) fulfill any legal obligation required by the agency agreement and any legal order by the client that is within the scope of the agency agreement.

This bill modifies the duty to loyally represent the client's interests. Under the bill, a broker satisfies this duty by doing the following: 1) placing the client's interests ahead of the broker's interests; and 2) placing the client's interests ahead of the interests of nonclients in the transaction by not disclosing information and advice to nonclients if disclosure is contrary to the client's interests. The bill also creates a duty to provide, upon the client's request, information and advice on matters that are material to a transaction and a duty to negotiate on behalf of a client. Under the bill, a client may waive the broker's duty to negotiate, but only in writing.

BROKERAGE SERVICES

Under current law, a person may not engage in brokerage services unless the person is a licensed broker. Currently, brokerage services include promoting certain transactions in real estate or business opportunities. This bill specifies that brokerage services include promoting certain transactions in real estate, time shares, or businesses or their goodwill, inventory, or fixtures, whether or not the business includes real property.

Under current law, a broker may not provide brokerage services to a party to a transaction without an agency agreement that authorizes the broker to provide the services. The agency agreement must contain a statement of the terms and conditions of the brokerage services that the broker will provide. Also under current law, a broker may not provide brokerage services to a party or a client unless the broker has provided the party or client with a disclosure form that: 1) identifies the broker's clients in the transaction; 2) states the broker's duties to the broker's clients; 3) states the broker's duties to a party; and 4) contains a statement, the text of which is prescribed by current law, describing the broker's duties to disclose certain known defects affecting a property and to maintain the confidentiality of certain other information.

BILL has entered into an agency agreement with a party to the transaction or has been engaged to provide brokerage services in the transaction as a subagent

Under the bill, a broker may provide brokerage services to any person, whether or not the broker ~~and the person have entered into an agency agreement~~, except that a broker may not negotiate on behalf of a person who is not the broker's client unless another party to the transaction is the broker's client or is a client of another broker who has engaged the broker to provide brokerage services in the transaction as a subagent (see "Subagency," below), and the broker has provided to the party a disclosure form stating the broker's duties to a person receiving brokerage services from the broker. The bill deletes the requirements that the disclosure form identify the broker's client in the transaction and state the broker's duties to the broker's client. Under the bill, the disclosure form summarizes the broker's duties to parties and the broker's disclosure and confidentiality duties.

The bill creates a separate disclosure form for a broker's client. Under the bill, a broker is required to provide the form to a client not later than the time the broker enters into an agency agreement with the client. The client disclosure form summarizes the broker's duties to clients, the broker's disclosure and confidentiality duties, and the broker's duties if the client is involved in a transaction in which another party is also the broker's client (see "Multiple representation relationships and designated agency," below). The client disclosure form also contains a space for the client to indicate whether the client consents to certain multiple representation relationships.

Under the bill, if a broker is providing services to a person in a transaction in which no party is the broker's client or a client of another broker who has engaged the broker to provide brokerage services as a subagent (see "Subagency," below), the broker may not provide to any party advice or opinions relating to the services ~~the person is receiving~~ if doing so is contrary to the interests of the person or another person receiving services from the broker.

The bill also modifies the current definition of "negotiate." The bill specifies that providing advice or opinions that are material to a person's transaction or showing real estate to a party does not, in and of itself, constitute negotiation.

transaction in which the person is receiving brokerage

This bill defines a subagent as a broker who is engaged by a principal broker to provide brokerage services in a transaction but who is not the principal broker's employee. A broker may not engage another broker to provide brokerage services to the broker's client as a subagent unless the agency agreement between the broker and the client authorizes the broker to engage a subagent.

Under the bill, a broker who has been engaged to provide brokerage services in a transaction as a subagent owes all parties the duties owed by a broker who is not a subagent. Additionally, a subagent may not place the subagent's interests ahead of the interests of the principal broker's client in the transaction, or provide advice or opinions to parties in the transaction if doing so is contrary to the interests of the principal broker's client. A broker who has been engaged by another broker as a subagent does not owe the principal broker's client the additional duties that a broker owes to the broker's own client.

in a transaction in which a subagent has been engaged by a principal broker,

BILLMULTIPLE REPRESENTATION RELATIONSHIPS AND DESIGNATED AGENCY

Currently, a broker may not provide brokerage services to more than one client in a transaction (multiple representation relationship) unless the broker has entered into an agency agreement with, and made certain written disclosures to, each client, and each client has given written consent. Under current law, a broker who represents more than one client in a transaction may not place the interests of any client ahead of the interests of another client in the transaction.

Under the bill, if a broker's client does not give written consent to multiple representation relationships or if the client withdraws such consent, neither the broker nor the broker's employees may place the interests of any client ahead of the interests of any other in negotiations. A client may withdraw consent to multiple representation relationships at any time by written notice to the broker.

Also under the bill, if a client consents to multiple representation relationships the client may also consent to receiving negotiation services from the broker in a multiple representation relationship only from an employee of the broker who is not providing negotiation services to another client of the broker in the transaction ("designated agency"). In a designated agency relationship, the broker's employee may provide to the client on whose behalf the employee is negotiating information, opinions, and advice to assist the client in the negotiations, whether or not the information, opinions, and advice place the interests of one of the broker's clients ahead of the interests of another client of the broker.

If a client consents to multiple representation relationships but not to designated agency, the broker and the broker's employees may not place the interests of any client ahead of the interests of any other in negotiations.

BROKER LIABILITY

Current law provides that duties imposed on brokers by statutes or by rules supersede fiduciary duties the broker has to a party based on common law principles of agency, to the extent that common law is inconsistent with the statutes or rules. Under the bill, a broker's duties under the statutes or rules supersede any inconsistent common law duties or obligations, not just fiduciary duties based on agency principles.

Under current law, a broker must supervise, and is responsible for, the acts of any broker, salesperson, or time-share salesperson employed by the broker. Under the bill, a broker is responsible for brokerage services provided on behalf of the broker by a broker, salesperson, or time-share salesperson employed by the broker.

The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:

1 SECTION 1. 452.01 (1m) of the statutes is amended to read:

(5) DUTIES WITHOUT AGENCY OR SUBAGENCY RELATIONSHIP. If a broker is providing brokerage services to a person who is a party or a prospective party to a transaction, and the broker does not have an agency agreement with the person and is not a subagent of another broker in the transaction, then the broker owes the person the duties under sub. (1) and may not, unless required by law, provide advice or opinions relating to the services ~~the person is receiving from the broker~~ if providing the advice or opinions is contrary to the interests of ~~the person or~~ a party to a current or prospective transaction with the person receiving the brokerage services.

SECTION 42. 452.133 (6) of the statutes is created to read:

452.133 (6) WAIVER OF DUTIES. The duties imposed by subs. (1), (2) (a), (am), (b), and (c), (4), and (5) may not be waived. A client may waive, in part or in full, the broker's duty under sub. (2) (d), except that a waiver under this subsection is not effective unless the broker provides to the client a written disclosure containing all of the following:

(a) A copy of the text of sub. (2) (d) and s. 452.01 (5m), and a statement that, as a consequence of the client's waiver, the broker will have no legal duty to perform the duty imposed by sub. (2) (d).

(b) A statement that as a consequence of the client's waiver, the client may require the assistance of an attorney or another service provider to fulfill the client's goals and contractual duties in the transaction.

SECTION 43. 452.134 of the statutes is created to read:

452.134 Agency relationships; multiple representation relationships.

(1) AGENCY RELATIONSHIP NOT REQUIRED. (a) Subject to par. (b), a broker may provide brokerage services to any person, whether or not the person is the broker's client.

BILLSECTION 43

1 (b) A broker may not negotiate on behalf of a party to a transaction unless a
2 party to the transaction is one of the following:

3 1. The broker's client.

4 2. A client of a principal broker who has engaged the broker as a subagent.

5 (2) MULTIPLE REPRESENTATION RELATIONSHIPS; CONSENT REQUIRED. A broker may 6 not provide brokerage services in a multiple representation relationship unless all 7 of the broker's clients in the multiple representation relationship have consented to 8 a multiple representation relationship in writing.

9 (3) DESIGNATED AGENCY; CONSENT REQUIRED. (a) A broker in a multiple 10 representation relationship may not engage in designated agency unless all of the 11 broker's clients in the relationship have consented to designated agency in writing.
12 A client may withdraw consent to designated agency by written notice to the broker
13 at any time.

14 (b) If a broker is engaged in designated agency, the broker's employee who is 15 negotiating on behalf of a client of the broker in the transaction may provide to the 16 client on whose behalf the employee is negotiating information, opinions, and advice 17 to assist the client in the negotiations, whether or not the information, opinions, and 18 advice place the interests of one of the broker's clients ahead of the interests of 19 another client of the broker.

20 (4) MULTIPLE REPRESENTATIONS RELATIONSHIP WITHOUT DESIGNATED AGENCY. If a 21 broker's client in a multiple representation relationship does not consent to 22 designated agency or withdraws consent to designated agency, the broker and the 23 broker's employees may not place the interests of any client ahead of the interests
24 of any other in the negotiations.

BILL

1 452.135 Disclosure of duties. (1) (a) A broker may not negotiate on behalf
2 of a party who is not the broker's client unless the broker provides to the party a copy
3 of the following written disclosure statement:

4 BROKER DISCLOSURE TO CUSTOMERS

5 You are a customer of the broker. The broker is either an agent of another party
6 in the transaction or a subagent of another broker who is the agent of another party
7 in the transaction. The broker, or a salesperson acting on behalf of the broker, may 8 provide brokerage services to you. Whenever the broker is providing brokerage 9 services to you, the broker owes you, the customer, the following duties:

10 The duty to provide brokerage services to you fairly and honestly.

11 The duty to exercise reasonable skill and care in providing brokerage services
12 to you.

13 The duty to provide you with accurate information about market conditions
14 within a reasonable time if you request it, unless disclosure of the information is
15 prohibited by law.

16 The duty to disclose to you in writing certain material adverse facts about a
17 property, unless disclosure of the information is prohibited by law.

18 The duty to protect your confidentiality. Unless the law requires it, the broker
19 will not disclose your confidential information or the confidential information of
20 other parties.

21 The duty to safeguard trust funds and other property the broker holds.

22 The duty, when negotiating, to present contract proposals in an objective and
23 unbiased manner and disclose the advantages and disadvantages of the proposals.

BILLSECTION 44

1 Please review this information carefully. A broker or salesperson can answer
2 your questions about brokerage services, but if you need legal advice, tax advice, or
3 a professional home inspection, contact an attorney, tax advisor, or home inspector.

4 This disclosure is required by section 452.135 of the Wisconsin statutes and is
5 for information only. It is a plain-language summary of a broker's duties to a 6 customer under section 452.133 (1) of the Wisconsin statutes.

7 (b) If a broker is providing brokerage services as a subagent to a principal
8 broker, the broker shall provide a copy of the written disclosure statement under par.
9 (a) to any person who is not the principal broker's client and who receives brokerage 10 services from the broker within the scope of the agreement between the broker and 11 the principal broker.

12 (2) (a) Except as provided in sub. (b), a broker shall provide to a client a copy
13 of the following written disclosure statement not later than the time the broker
14 enters into an agency agreement with the client:

BROKER DISCLOSURE TO CLIENTS

15 Under Wisconsin law, a broker owes certain duties to all parties to a 16 transaction:

17 The duty to provide brokerage services to you fairly and honestly.

18 The duty to exercise reasonable skill and care in providing brokerage services
19 to you.

20 The duty to provide you with accurate information about market conditions
21 within a reasonable time if you request it, unless disclosure of the information is
22 prohibited by law.

23 The duty to disclose to you in writing certain material adverse facts about a
24 property, unless disclosure of the information is prohibited by law.
25

BILL

1 The duty to protect your confidentiality. Unless the law requires it, the broker
2 will not disclose your confidential information or the confidential information of
3 other parties.

4 The duty to safeguard trust funds and other property the broker holds.

5 The duty, when negotiating, to present contract proposals in an objective and
6 unbiased manner and disclose the advantages and disadvantages of the proposals.

7 Because you have entered into an agency agreement with a broker, you are the 8 broker's client. A broker owes additional duties to a client.

9 The broker will provide, at your request, information and advice on real estate
10 matters that affect your transaction, unless you release the broker from this duty.
11 The broker must provide you with all material facts affecting the transaction, not 12 just adverse facts.

13 The broker will fulfill the broker's obligations under the agency agreement and 14 fulfill your lawful requests that are within the scope of the agency agreement.

15 The broker will negotiate for you, unless you release the broker from this duty.

16 The broker will not place the broker's interests ahead of your interests. The 17 broker will not, unless required by law, give information or advice to other parties
18 who are not the broker's clients, if giving the information or advice is contrary to your 19 interests.

20 If you become involved in a transaction in which another party is also the 21 broker's client (a "multiple representation relationship"), different duties may apply.

22 MULTIPLE REPRESENTATION RELATIONSHIPS AND DESIGNATED
23 AGENCY

24 A multiple representation relationship exists if a broker has an agency
25 agreement with more than one client who is a party in the same transaction. In a

BILLSECTION 44

1 multiple representation relationship, if all of the broker's clients in the transaction
2 consent, the broker may provide services to the clients through designated agency.

3 Designated agency means that different salespersons employed by the broker
4 will negotiate on behalf of you and the other client or clients in the transaction, and
5 the broker's duties will remain the same. Each salesperson will provide information,
6 opinions, and advice to the client for whom the salesperson is negotiating, to assist
7 the client in the negotiations. Each client will be able to receive information,
8 opinions, and advice that will assist the client, even if the information, opinions, or 9 advice gives the client advantages in the negotiations over the broker's other clients.
10 A salesperson will not reveal any of your confidential information to another party
11 unless required to do so by law.

12 If a designated agency relationship is not in effect you may authorize or reject
13 a multiple representation relationship. If you authorize a multiple representation
14 relationship the broker may provide brokerage services to more than one client in a 15 transaction but neither the broker nor any of the broker's salespersons may assist 16 any client with information, opinions, and advice which may favor the interests of 17 one client over any other client. If you do not consent to a multiple representation 18 relationship the broker will not be allowed to provide brokerage services to more than 19 one client in the transaction.

20 INITIAL ONLY ONE OF THE THREE LINES BELOW:

21 _____ I consent to designated agency.

22 _____ I consent to multiple representation relationships, but I do not consent
23 to designated agency.

24 _____ I reject multiple representation relationships.

SUBAGENCY

11 The broker may, with your authorization in the agency agreement, engage 12 other brokers who assist your broker by providing brokerage services for your 13 benefit. A subagent will not put the subagent's own interests ahead of your interests.
14 A subagent will not, unless required by law, provide advice or opinions to other 15 parties if doing so is contrary to your interests.

16 Please review this information carefully. A broker or salesperson can answer
17 your questions about brokerage services, but if you need legal advice, tax advice, or

3 SECTION 45. 452.137 of the statutes is repealed.

4 SECTION 46. 452.138 of the statutes is amended to read:

5 452.138 Brokers providing services in more than one transaction. A 6 broker may provide brokerage services simultaneously to more than one party in 7 different transactions unless the broker agrees with a client that the broker is to 8 provide brokerage services only to that client. If the broker and a client agree that 9 the broker is to provide brokerage services only to that client, the agency agreement
10 ~~under s. 452.135 (1)~~ shall contain a statement of that agreement.

11 SECTION 47. 452.139 (1) of the statutes is amended to read:

12 452.139 (1) FIDUCIARY COMMON LAW DUTIES OF BROKER. The duties of a broker
13 specified in this chapter or in rules promulgated under this chapter shall supersede 14 ~~any fiduciary duties of a broker to a party based on duties or obligations under~~ 15 ~~common law principles of agency to the extent that those common law fiduciary~~ 16 ~~duties or obligations~~ are inconsistent with the duties specified in this chapter or in 17 rules promulgated under this chapter.

18 SECTION 48. 452.14 (3) (f) of the statutes is amended to read:

19 452.14 (3) (f) Accepted from any person except the broker's, salesperson's, or 20 time-share salesperson's employer, if the broker, salesperson, or time-share
21 salesperson is employed as a salesperson or time-share salesperson by a broker, a
