Payment for educational services provided to pupil in secure custody

Assumptions Used in Arriving at Fiscal Estimate

This bill provides that when a pupil who is placed in a secured detention facility, jail, or county house of correction is provided with educational services by the school district where the secure detention facility, jail or county house of correction is located, the school board of the school district where the pupil resided at the time must pay tuition for the pupil to the school district providing the educational services.

This bill would cause a cost-shift for local school districts where the district providing the educational services would see an increase in revenue while the districts receiving the services would see an increase in costs. There are currently 16 counties with secured detention facilities. We do not have any data to make an estimate of the fiscal impact on local units of government. This bill would have no fiscal impact on the Department of Corrections.
