Description Requiring tracer wires in the installation of private sewage systems

Assumptions Used in Arriving at Fiscal Estimate

2005 AB 852 prohibits any person from installing a private sewage system unless the person installing the system places tracer wires under the ground so that the pipes leading to the system can be located after the installation.

The Department currently regulates the installation of private sewage systems through the promulgation of rules indicating requirements regarding the installation of private sewage systems. The Department also examines private sewage system design plans for compliance with the regulations, and conducts soil and site evaluation, and consultation. Once a design has been approved, a permit is issued by the applicable county government.

The Department would revise the rules for private sewage systems so they would be consistent with the requirements of this bill. 2005 AB 852 would result in no significant additional workload for the Department or local units of government. Therefore, there would be no fiscal impact on the Department or local units of government resulting from 2005 AB 852.
