Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Under current law, certain types of evidence are not allowed to be admitted in a court action for various policy reasons. For example, evidence of measures taken after damage occurred that would have made the damage less likely is not admissible to prove negligence or culpable conduct in connection with the damage. As another example, no written or oral communication relating to a dispute in mediation is admissible or subject to discovery in any judicial proceeding or administrative action.

This bill provides that a statement or gesture of a health care provider, or his or her employee or agent, that expresses apology, benevolence, compassion, condolence, or sympathy to a patient or patient's relative or representative is not admissible into evidence or subject to discovery in any civil action or administrative hearing regarding the health care provider as evidence of liability or as an admission against interest.
