Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Current law imposes a fee of $3 per ton on solid waste, other than certain kinds of high-volume industrial waste, disposed of at a landfill or other waste disposal facility. This type of fee is often called a tipping fee. The recycling fee is deposited into the recycling fund. Under current law, the Department of Natural Resources administers a program that provides financial assistance to local units of government that operate recycling programs. In each fiscal year, a local unit of government generally receives the same proportion of the total available funding that it received in 1999, but not more than its eligible costs.

This bill increases the recycling fee to $10 per ton on April 1, 2008. The bill also increases funding by $48,000,000 in fiscal year 2008–09 for the program that provides financial assistance to local governmental units that operate recycling programs. Under this bill, in 2009 each local governmental unit receives at least a 75 percent increase in financial assistance, even if the increased amount exceeds the eligible costs of its recycling program.
