SENATE BILL 394

1 of the statutes; relating to: licensure of dietitians and requiring the exercise
2 of rule-making authority.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

This bill makes a number of changes to the regulation of dietitians.

Licensure and use of titles

Under current law, a person may be certified as a dietitian by the Dietitians Affiliated Credentialing Board (board) in the Department of Regulation and Licensing (DRL). With certain exceptions, current law prohibits a person who is not certified by the board from designating himself or herself as a dietitian, claiming to provide dietetic services, or using any title or initial that would represent that person as certified or licensed as a dietitian or in a nutrition-related field.

“Dietitian” is defined under current law as an individual who practices dietetics, which is defined to mean the integration and application of principles from nutritional science, biochemistry, food systems management, and other fields in order to achieve or maintain the health of an individual or group of individuals. “Dietetics” is further defined under current law to include assessing the nutritional needs of an individual or group of individuals; establishing priorities, goals and objectives to meet those nutritional needs; and providing nutritional counseling.

This bill changes the title of a person licensed by the board from “dietitian” to “dietitian or nutritionist,” and defines a dietitian or nutritionist as a person who practices dietetics and nutrition care services. The bill also changes the title of the board to the Dietetics and Nutrition Care Services Affiliated Credentialing Board. The bill defines “dietetics and nutrition care services” to mean the integration and application of principles derived from the sciences of food, nutrition, management, communication, biology, physiology, behavior, and the social sciences to achieve and maintain optimal human health. The bill defines the “practice of dietetics and nutrition care services” to exclude the retail sale of food products or vitamins, but to include: 1) the assessment of the nutritional needs of an individual or group of individuals; 2) establishing priorities, goals, and objectives to meet these nutritional needs; and 3) medical nutrition therapy. The bill defines “medical nutrition therapy” as nutritional diagnostic, therapy, and counseling services provided for the purpose of managing disease.

The bill directs the board to license, not certify, persons as a licensed dietitian or nutritionist. The bill prohibits a person who is not licensed from practicing dietetics or nutrition care services. The bill also prohibits, with certain exceptions, a person who is not licensed by the board from using any of the following titles or initials: dietitian, certified dietitian, licensed dietitian, nutritionist, certified nutritionist, licensed nutritionist, dietitian and nutritionist, certified dietitian and nutritionist, licensed dietitian and nutritionist, nutrition consultant, nutritional consultant, L.D., L.N., L.D.N., or any title or initials that may tend to represent that the person is certified or licensed as a dietitian or in a nutrition-related field.

SENATE BILL 394Requirements for licensure by the board

To be certified as a dietitian or nutritionist under current law, a person must do all of the following:

1. Receive a bachelor's, master's, or doctoral degree in certain fields, including human nutrition, nutrition education, and food system management, received from a college or university that the board determines is regionally accredited. If the college or university is not located in the United States, the degree must be substantially equivalent to a degree offered by a regionally accredited college or university. Alternatively, a person may receive a degree from a program approved by the board.

2. Complete at least 900 supervised hours of dietetics practice.

3. Pass the registration examination, or its equivalent, established by the American Dietetic Association (ADA).

Under current law, a person who has satisfied the educational and practice requirements described above, and who has applied to take the next available examination, may obtain a temporary dietitian certificate.

Under the bill, to be licensed by the board, an individual must do all of the following:

1. Possess a bachelor's, master's, or doctoral degree granted from a regionally accredited college or university and complete a didactic program in dietetics approved by the ADA. If the college or university is not located in the United States, the academic degree must be deemed equivalent to the degree granted by a United States regionally accredited college or university.

2. Complete 900 supervised practice hours under a supervised practice program accredited by the ADA.

3. Pass the registration examination for dietitians established by the ADA.

Under the bill, a person who satisfies the educational and practice requirements described above, and who submits a letter from the ADA verifying that person's registration eligibility status, may obtain a temporary license.

The bill requires an applicant for renewal of a license to provide DRL with the following: 1) proof of registration with the ADA; or 2) satisfactory completion of continuing education requirements established by the board by rule.

Exemptions from licensure

Current law exempts a person who is licensed or certified and lawfully practicing as any of the following from obtaining certification from the board provided the person practices within the scope of his or her license or certificate and does not claim to be a dietitian or licensed in a nutrition-related field: nurses, chiropractors, dentists, physicians, physical therapists, podiatrists, athletic trainers, occupational therapists, optometrists, pharmacists, acupuncturists, nursing home administrators, and persons to whom a practice or procedure is delegated by any of the above. In addition, current law exempts the following from obtaining certification from the board: 1) persons who are pursuing a degree or certificate from an educational program approved by the board; 2) a dietetic technician or assistant working under the supervision of a certified dietitian; 3) a dietitian serving in the U.S. armed forces; and 4) a person who markets or distributes food and other goods, who explains the use, benefits, or preparation of food and other goods, and who furnishes nutritional information about food and other goods provided that person does not claim to be a dietitian or certified dietitian and that person complies with applicable law.

Under the bill, only the following persons do not need to obtain a license from the board: 1) a physician; 2) a dietitian or nutritionist serving in the U.S. armed forces; 3) a licensed chiropractor who has obtained nutritional counseling certification; 4) a retailer that furnishes oral or written general nutrition information about food and other goods in connection with the marketing and distribution of those goods; 5) a person who is not practicing dietetics and nutrition care services who provides general nutrition information about food and other goods; and 6) a person who provides weight control services under a program of instruction approved in writing by a licensed dietitian, a physician, or a person registered as a dietitian with the ADA.
