1 AN ACT to renumber and amend 111.825 (5); and to create 111.825 (5) (b) of
2 the statutes; relating to: collective bargaining rights under the State
3 Employment Labor Relations Act for classified supervisors in the Department
4 of Corrections who perform duties relating to probation, parole, and extended
5 supervision.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

The State Employment Labor Relations Act (SELRA) requires that the state bargain with representatives of those employees who are entitled to have their wages, hours, and conditions of employment set through the collective bargaining process. Currently, under SELRA, all classified state employees, except for limited-term employees, sessional employees, project employees, supervisors, management employees, individuals who are privy to confidential matters affecting the employer-employee relationship, and employees of the Employment Relations Commission, are entitled to have their wages, hours, and conditions of employment set through the collective bargaining process.

This bill provides that classified supervisors in the Department of Corrections who perform duties related to probation, parole, and extended supervision are entitled to have their wages, hours, and conditions of employment set through the collective bargaining process.
