Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Under current statutes and administrative rules, the following persons are required to successfully complete instruction in cardiopulmonary resuscitation:

SENATE BILL 142

emergency medical technicians; first responders; instructors of emergency medical technicians or first responders; hospital medical and nursing personnel who provide emergency services; day care center, group home, and shelter care facility staff who provide care for children; chiropractors; dental hygienists; dentists; licensed midwives; lifeguards; health services staff at camps; fitness center employees; athletic trainers; specialized motor vehicle drivers and attendants; and massage therapists and bodyworkers. Beginning May 1, 2007, licensed midwives will be required to be currently certified in cardiopulmonary resuscitation.

This bill requires these persons to successfully complete a course on the use of automated external defibrillators. The bill requires chiropractors, dental hygienists, dentists, licensed midwives, athletic trainers, and massage therapists and bodyworkers to demonstrate current proficiency in the use of an automated external defibrillator in order to obtain licensure or certification and, with the exception of massage therapists and bodyworkers, the renewal of a license or certificate. This bill also requires the Department of Health and Family Services (DHFS) to approve individuals, organizations, and institutions of higher education to provide the course.

Current administrative rules require a residential care center for children and youth operated by a child welfare agency to have in each building housing residents of the residential care center for children and youth when those residents are present at least one staff member who has successfully completed instruction in cardiopulmonary resuscitation and require a shelter care facility to have readily available on the premises of the shelter care facility a staff member or other person who has successfully completed such instruction. This bill requires DHFS to promulgate administrative rules requiring a residential care center for children and youth to have in each building housing residents when residents are present at least one staff member who has successfully completed a course in the use of automated external defibrillators and requiring shelter care facilities to have readily available on the premises a staff member or other person who has successfully completed such a course.

For further information see the state and local fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.
