AN ACT to renumber and amend 29.192 (4); to amend 29.180 (1) (a) 3., 29.183 (1) (c), 29.184 (6) (c) 1r. and 29.192 (4m) (intro.); and to create 29.192 (4) (b) of the statutes; relating to: the preference systems for issuing Class A bear licenses, bobcat hunting and trapping permits, fisher trapping permits, and otter trapping permits.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Under current law, the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) may limit the number of bobcats, fishers, otters, and other species of wildlife harvested by establishing a cumulative preference system. DNR administers a cumulative preference system for issuing permits if the number of applicants for the permits exceeds the number available. Under the current system, an applicant receives a preference point for each season for which the applicant applies but does not receive a permit. Higher priority is given to those applicants with more preference points. When an applicant is selected, he or she must accept the permit for the upcoming season.

Under this bill, for bobcat hunting and trapping permits, fisher trapping permits, and otter trapping permits, an applicant may apply under the system for a permit or may apply for only a preference point if he or she is not seeking a permit for the upcoming season. DNR then gives a preference point to each person who applies for just a preference point and to each permit applicant who is not selected.
For further information see the state fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.
