(m), 101.65 (1p) and subchapter VIII of chapter 101 [precedes 101.99] of the statutes; relating to: the regulation of construction contractors and subcontractors, granting rule-making authority, and providing a penalty.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

The Department of Commerce (Commerce) administers various laws, including building codes, that promote safety in public and private buildings and in the subsystems of those buildings. To that end, Commerce issues various licenses, permits, registrations, and other credentials (licenses) to persons engaged in the construction trades such as electricians and plumbers. Commerce also administers and issues licenses in connection with the administration of other laws relating to public safety such as those regulating fireworks and the storage of flammable liquids.

This bill requires Commerce to register any person who desires to act as a contractor or subcontractor and who meets certain registration requirements established by Commerce. Under the bill, a contractor is a person engaged in the business of construction who contracts with the owner or lessor of real property to construct, or supervise the construction of, an improvement to that real property. The bill specifies that a subcontractor is a person who enters into a contract with a contractor or a subcontractor to perform part or all of a contract to construct or supervise the construction of an improvement to real property.
Under the bill, Commerce must establish an Internet site that consumers may use to determine whether a contractor or subcontractor is registered by Commerce. The bill also requires Commerce to promulgate rules establishing standards for the registration of contractors and subcontractors, application procedures for persons who apply for such registration, and conditions under which Commerce may suspend or revoke such a registration. The bill creates a contractor advisory committee that is required to make recommendations to Commerce regarding the promulgation of these rules.

The bill provides that a person may not hold himself or herself out or act as a contractor or subcontractor or perform construction services unless the person is registered as a contractor or subcontractor by Commerce. The bill also prohibits a contractor or subcontractor from entering into contracts for construction services with a person who is not registered as a contractor or subcontractor with Commerce. Further, the bill prohibits a contractor or subcontractor from claiming a lien for construction services performed or materials procured if the contractor or subcontractor is not registered with Commerce.

The bill authorizes Commerce to directly assess a forfeiture by issuing an order against any person who violates the requirements imposed upon contractors and subcontractors under the bill.
