Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Introduction

This bill prohibits discrimination in housing because of an arrest or conviction record that is more than three years old and makes such discrimination a Class I felony, which is punishable by a fine not to exceed $10,000 or imprisonment not to exceed three years and six months, or both. The bill also makes it a Class I felony to discriminate in employment based on arrest or conviction record.
Housing discrimination

Current law prohibits discrimination in housing on the basis of sex, race, color, sexual orientation, disability, religion, national origin, marital status, family status, lawful source of income, age, or ancestry (protected class), but not on the basis of arrest or conviction record. A person who engages in an act of housing discrimination may be required to provide such relief as may be appropriate, including economic and noneconomic damages and injunctive or other equitable relief, and to pay a forfeiture of not more than $10,000, except that a person who is not a natural person may be required to pay a forfeiture of not more than $25,000 if the person has committed a previous act of housing discrimination within the preceding five years or a forfeiture of not more than $50,000 if the person has committed two or more previous acts of housing discrimination within the preceding seven years.

Current law also prohibits a mortgage banker, loan originator, or mortgage broker from treating a person unequally based on the person’s membership in a protected class. In addition, current law prohibits a real estate broker, real estate salesperson, or time-share salesperson from treating a person unequally based on the person’s sex, race, color, handicap, national origin, ancestry, marital status, or lawful source of income.

This bill prohibits discrimination in housing on the basis of an arrest or conviction record that is more than three years old and prohibits a mortgage banker, loan originator, mortgage broker, real estate broker, real estate salesperson, or time-share salesperson from treating a person unequally based on such an arrest or conviction record. The bill also makes it a Class I felony to commit an act of housing discrimination against an individual on the basis of such an arrest or conviction record. In addition, the bill requires a person who commits an act of housing discrimination against an individual on the basis of an arrest or conviction within the previous three years to inform the individual of the reason for the act, allow the individual to provide information relevant to the arrest or conviction, and, if the individual provides that information, reconsider the act.

Employment discrimination

Current law, subject to certain exceptions, prohibits discrimination in employment, licensing, and labor organization membership based on arrest or conviction record. Current law specifies, however, that it is not employment discrimination because of arrest record to refuse to employ or to license, or to suspend from employment or licensing, an individual who is subject to a pending criminal charge, the circumstances of which substantially relate to the circumstances of the particular job or licensed activity. Also, under current law, it is not employment discrimination because of conviction record to refuse to employ or to license, or to bar or terminate from employment or licensing, an individual who has been convicted of a felony, misdemeanor, or other offense, the circumstances of which substantially relate to the circumstances of the particular job or licensed activity.

Notwithstanding those exemptions, current law prohibits an individual who has been convicted of certain crimes from engaging in certain occupations, including caregiver at certain entities that provide care or treatment services for children or adults, school bus or human services vehicle operator, alternative pupil transportation provider, hazardous materials transporter, Division of Gaming in the Department of Administration or Lottery Division in the Department of Revenue employee, lottery ticket retailer, Indian gaming vendor, viatical settlement broker or provider, private detective or investigator, private security person, burglar alarm installer, or alcohol beverage seller (regulated occupations).

This bill makes it a Class I felony to commit an act of employment discrimination against an individual because of arrest or conviction record. The bill, however, does not apply to an act of employment discrimination that is required or permitted with respect to a regulated occupation or to an arrest or conviction, the circumstances of which substantially relate to the circumstances of the particular job or licensed activity.

Because this bill creates a new crime or revises a penalty for an existing crime, the Joint Review Committee on Criminal Penalties may be requested to prepare a report concerning the proposed penalty and the costs or savings that are likely to result if the bill is enacted.

For further information see the state and local fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.

The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do
