SENATE BILL 265

PREFATORY NOTE: This bill was prepared for the joint legislative council's special committee on affirmative action.

Under current law, the minority group members who own, control, and actively manage businesses that are minority businesses, minority financial advisers, or minority investment firms under s. 560.036, stats., must be U.S. citizens or persons lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence, as defined under 8 USC 1101 (a) (20).

This bill would require the minority group members who own, control, and actively manage businesses that are minority businesses, minority financial advisers, or minority investment firms under s. 560.036, stats., to be U.S. citizens.

This bill would prohibit the consideration of race or ethnicity, for purposes of determining compliance with affirmative action requirements in s. 16.765, stats., of any person who is not a U.S. citizen.

This bill would specify that the University of Wisconsin (UW) System may not consider the race or ethnicity of an applicant in that applicant's admission to the UW System unless the applicant is a U.S. citizen.

Under current law, the Ben R. Lawton minority undergraduate program provides financial assistance, in the form of grants, to certain minority undergraduate students enrolled in the UW System. The bill requires a student to be a U.S. citizen in order to receive a grant under the Ben R. Lawton minority undergraduate grant program.

Under current law, the Higher Educational Aids Board (HEAB) administers a minority teacher loan program. Under the program, HEAB awards loans to certain minority students who teach or agree to teach in school districts with high minority populations. The loan program also specifies terms for loan forgiveness. Additionally, HEAB operates a minority undergraduate grant program. Under the program, HEAB provides financial assistance, in the form of grants, to certain minority students enrolled in the Wisconsin technical college system and private institutions of higher education.

This bill requires a student be a U.S. citizen in order to receive a minority teacher loan or a minority undergraduate grant from HEAB.

This bill would require contractors, employers, and applicants for employment to be U.S. citizens in order to be eligible for affirmative action programs of a city, village, town, county, or school district unless the citizenship requirement would cause a loss of federal funding to the local governmental unit.

Current law, ch. 230, stats., relating to state civil service, establishes the policy to take affirmative action which is not in conflict with other provisions of the chapter. This bill would prohibit the consideration of race or ethnicity for affirmative action in ch. 230, stats., unless the consideration of race or ethnicity applies to a U.S. citizen.
