Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Under current law, the Department of Health Services (DHS) licenses or certifies various types of residential care facilities, including nursing homes, community-based residential facilities (CBRFs), and adult family homes (AFHs). Also under current law, DHS must annually give each nursing home a report that includes the following information: 1) the nursing home's nursing staff to resident ratio; 2) staff turnover for the nursing home and for other similar nursing homes in the same geographic area; and 3) violations by the nursing home and by other similar nursing homes in the same geographic area. DHS must also give nursing homes a one-sheet summary of the report. Nursing homes must provide the summary to every resident and prospective resident and must make the full report available to any person who requests it.

This bill requires DHS to establish standards of care and treatment for people with Alzheimer's disease or related dementia. The bill prohibits nursing homes, CBRFs, and AFHs from holding themselves out as providing special services for persons with Alzheimer's disease or related dementia unless DHS determines that the facility satisfies the standards of care and treatment for people with Alzheimer's disease or related dementia.

The bill also requires that, if a nursing home holds itself out as providing special services for persons with Alzheimer's disease or related dementia, DHS must include in the annual report DHS gives the nursing home a description of how the nursing home satisfies the standards established by DHS for care and treatment for persons with Alzheimer's disease or related dementia.

The bill requires DHS to annually give each CBRF and AFH a report that includes information on violations by the CBRF or AFH and by any similar CBRF or AFH in the same geographic area. In addition, if a CBRF or AFH holds itself out as providing special services for persons with Alzheimer's disease or related dementia, DHS must include in the report a description of how the CBRF or AFH satisfies the standards established by DHS for care and treatment for persons with Alzheimer's disease. DHS must also give each CBRF and AFH a summary of its report. The bill requires each CBRF and AFH to provide the summary to each resident and prospective resident of the CBRF or AFH.

For further information see the state and local fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.
