yes, remove the current language regarding combinations and replace it with the WRA preferred language. Taco Bell (for example) would like to list a range of calories on the menu board for the "meals" that are on the board for all the combinations possible.

The other part of their suggested language deals with Pizza Hut and KFC who sell "family size" items - buckets of chicken, large pizzas, etc that aren't meant to serve one person. They would like to list the number of servings and the calories per serving. I found an example of what one looks like here:

Tara,

In the bill, sub. (1) (f) (starting on line 24 of page 3) already addresses combinations. Should I eliminate combinations from that provision and just use the new language for combinations? I assume these combinations are the same and I don't want to treat them two different ways.

Tara,

Do you want me to wait for the other language before completing the simple amendment so that they can be combined? Or do you want the amendments separately?

Subject: Changes to Menu Labeling Bill - Ab 664

Tami,

Could we please make the following changes to our menu labeling bill? Below is language that Yum Brands (KFC, Pizza Hut, Taco Bell) had inserted into California's menu labeling bill. They would like it added to ours as well.

In addition, can we please delete, Page 6, paren 6 (lines 1-2) that relate to federal action.

I think simple amendments to the bill should be fine. The Distilled Spirits folks are asking for a change too, but haven't gotten me the language yet. the plan is to have a hearing on the bill March 9th.

Thanks!

Proposed language:

The disclosure of calorie content information on a menu or menu board next to a standard menu item that is a combination of at least two standard menu items on the menu or menu board, shall, based upon all possible combinations for that standard menu item, include both the minimum amount of calories for the calorie count information and the maximum amount of calories for the calorie count information. If there is only one possible total amount of calories, then this total shall be disclosed.

The disclosure of calorie content information on a menu or menu board next to a standard menu item that is intended to serve more than one individual shall include both of the following:

(1) The number of individuals intended to be served by the standard menu item.

(2) The calorie content information per individual serving. If the standard menu item is a combination of at least two standard menu items, this disclosure shall, based upon all possible combinations for that standard menu item, include both the minimum amount of calories for the calorie count information and the maximum amount of calories. If there is only one possible total amount of calories, then this total shall be disclosed.
