Analysis by the Legislative Reference BureauEngrossment information:

The text of Engrossed 2009 Assembly Bill 696, as passed by the assembly on April 20, 2010, consists of the following documents adopted in the assembly on April 20, 2010: the bill as affected by Assembly Amendment 3 (as affected by Assembly Amendment 1 thereto) and Assembly Amendment 4. In engrossing, SECTION 6m was renumbered SECTION 5r and relocated to correct the order of sections.

Content of Engrossed 2009 Assembly Bill 696:

The bill does all of the following: 1) makes changes to the authority of the Public Service Commission (PSC) over telecommunications utilities; 2) specifies the PSC's authority over switched access and wholesale telecommunications service; 3) creates requirements for telecommunications utility tariffs; 4) specifies the PSC's authority over interconnected voice over Internet protocol (VOIP) service; 5) makes changes to the PSC's authority for ensuring universal access to telecommunications service; 6) imposes requirements regarding the availability of basic voice service; and 7) makes other changes, including repealing provisions regarding access services and discrimination in favor of telecommunications affiliates.

TELECOMMUNICATIONS UTILITY REGULATION

Under current law, a telecommunications provider that provides basic local exchange service is defined to be a telecommunications utility. The PSC's authority over a telecommunications utility depends on whether the PSC has certified the telecommunications utility as a telecommunications utility (TU) or an alternative telecommunications utility (ATU). In general, the PSC has certified as TUs those telecommunications providers that are incumbent local exchange carriers (ILECs) under federal law, which are telecommunications providers that resulted from the breakup of the Bell System pursuant to a federal antitrust action. In general, the PSC has certified as ATUs those telecommunications providers that are competitive local exchange carriers (CLECs) under federal law, which are telecommunications providers that compete with ILECs to provide basic local exchange service.

Under current law, TUs are subject to varying degrees of regulation by the PSC, depending on certain factors, such as whether the TU has elected price regulation, under which the PSC regulates the rates charged by a TU, but not the TU's rate of return. The degree of PSC regulation also depends on whether a TU is a cooperative association, or whether the TU is a "small TU," which is a TU that had fewer than 50,000 access lines in this state on January 1, 1984. With certain exceptions, current law exempts an ATU from PSC regulation, except that, if certain conditions are satisfied, the PSC may impose on an ATU a requirement that otherwise applies to a TU or other public utility. In addition, ATUs, like certain other persons who provide active retail voice communications service, must collect from customers and remit to the PSC a monthly police and fire protection fee that is used for shared revenue payments.

ATUs. The bill limits the requirements the PSC may impose on an ATU. Under the bill, the PSC may impose requirements that relate only to the following: 1) submission of stockholder and other business management information; 2) PSC examination of accounting and other business records; 3) use of and connection to transmission equipment and property by other telecommunications providers; 4) confidential treatment of records by the PSC; 5) rates and costs of unbundled network elements; 6) interconnection agreements and other interconnection requirements; 7) telephone caller identification, pay-per-call, and toll-free services; 8) PSC privacy rules; 9) universal service and contributions to the state universal service fund; 10) impairment of speed, quality or efficiency of services, products, or facilities offered to consumers; 11) access to telecommunications emergency services; 12) compliance with price lists, contracts, and PSC rules and orders regarding providing consumers with service, products, or facilities; 13) restrictions on resale or sharing certain services, products, and facilities; 14) violations of rules of the Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection (DATCP) regarding advertising and sales and collection practices; 15) transfer of local exchange customers to other telecommunications providers; 16) late payment charges; 17) PSC questionnaires and other information requests; 18) PSC hearings on consumer complaints; 19) changes to PSC orders and reopening PSC cases; 20) PSC-required tests; 21) conditional, emergency, and supplemental PSC orders; 22) timing of effect of PSC orders; 23) court review of PSC orders; 24) injunction procedures; 25) enforcement duties of the PSC, the attorney general, and district attorneys and related court venues; 26) penalties related to information and record requests; 27) forfeitures; 28) abandonment or discontinuance of lines, services, and rights-of-way; 29) assessments for reimbursement of PSC expenses; 30) assessments for telephone relay service; and 31) assessments for enforcement of certain consumer protection requirements by DATCP.

The bill provides that if the PSC imposes any of the foregoing requirements on an ATU, the PSC must impose the same requirement at the same level of regulation on all other ATUs. In addition, the bill provides that an ATU that provides interconnected VOIP service is subject to the requirements described below. Also, the bill allows an ATU to elect to subject itself to the tariff requirements described below. The bill also provides that, except for a local government ATU, certification as an ATU is on a statewide basis and that any ATU certification issued by the PSC before the bill's effective date is considered amended to be a statewide certification. In addition, with certain exceptions, the bill allows the PSC to deny certification as an ATU if the PSC finds that the applicant for certification does not have the financial, managerial, or technical capabilities to provide service or comply with requirements applicable to ATUs.

The bill also allows an ATU to require the PSC to grant recertification as an ATU. Upon recertification, the ATU is subject to the requirements for ATUs described above. However, the recertification terminates all regulatory requirements related to the prior certification that were previously imposed on the ATU by the PSC.

TUs. The bill exempts TUs from requirements relating to all of the following: 1) PSC classification of public utility service; 2) PSC valuation of utility property; 3) accounting requirements, including depreciation rates and new construction accounting; 4) reporting of expenses, profit, and other items; 5) PSC reports of utility property values and other financial data; 6) filing of rates and PSC approval of rates; 7) PSC investigations of rates and services; 8) construction, installation, or operation of new facilities; 9) PSC approval of certain contracts; 10) certain municipal authority to regulate public utilities; 11) dissolution and reorganization; and 12) issuance of securities. However, as discussed below, some of the foregoing exemptions do not apply to wholesale telecommunications service or switched access service. The bill makes changes to current law to ensure that small TUs, and TUs that are cooperatives, are subject to the foregoing exemptions. In addition, the bill repeals the requirements that apply to TUs under current law that apply to the following: 1) offering new telecommunications services, or services jointly offered with other TUs; 2) classification of TU service; 3) promotional rates; 4) PSC authority regarding contracts between TUs and individual customers; and 5) consolidations and mergers. Also, the bill repeals price regulation of TUs and terminates any requirements imposed by the PSC on price-regulated TUs.

The bill also allows a TU to terminate its certification as a TU and require the PSC to certify the TU as an ATU and issue an order terminating all regulatory requirements related to the TU certification, except for certain requirements regarding wholesale telecommunications service as discussed below. Upon certification as an ATU, the formerly certified TU is subject to the same requirements as an ATU. In addition, the bill allows a TU to require the PSC to issue an order recertifying the TU as a TU, but regulating the TU like an ATU. Such a recertification terminates the TU's prior certification, and all regulatory requirements related to the prior certification, with the same exception for wholesale telecommunications service.

If the PSC issues an order certifying a TU as an ATU, or recertifying a TU as a TU that is regulated like an ATU, the order operates as a limited waiver of the TU's right to the following: 1) an exemption from interconnection requirements under federal law that apply to ILECs that are rural telephone companies; and 2) suspension or modification of certain interconnection requirements under federal law. The bill provides that, except for the foregoing limited waivers, the state's telecommunications law is not intended to reduce or expand the scope and application of federal telecommunications law, including the PSC's authority under federal law. The bill also provides that certification of a TU as an ATU, or recertification of a TU as a TU that is regulated like an ATU, does not terminate any PSC order regarding interconnection, unbundling, collocation, or any obligation under federal interconnection law or regarding wholesale telecommunications services.

SWITCHED ACCESS AND WHOLESALE TELECOMMUNICATIONS SERVICE

The bill creates requirements that apply to switched access and wholesale telecommunications service provided by ATUs and TUs. The bill defines "wholesale telecommunications service" as a service, other than a switched access service, that is: 1) provided by one telecommunications provider to another who is not an affiliate; 2) subject to regulation by the commission; and 3) subsequently used in the provision of a telecommunications service to retail end user customers. The bill does not define "switched access service," but that term refers to a service by which one TU or ATU provides access to its switched network to a second TU or ATU so that customers of the second TU or ATU can complete calls to customers of first TU or ATU.

Switched access service. The bill allows the PSC to impose on an ATU, but only with respect to switched access services, requirements under current law regarding the duty to provide reasonable service at reasonable and just rates (reasonable service and rates duty) and the authority of the PSC to issue orders regarding unreasonable or inadequate service (PSC unreasonable service authority). If the ATU required the PSC to recertify the ATU as an ATU as described above, the PSC may impose the foregoing requirements only if required by the public interest.

With respect to a TU, including a TU that recertifies as a TU but is regulated like an ATU, the following requirements apply: 1) if the TU has 50,000 or less access lines in the state, the TU is subject to the reasonable service and rates duty, but only with respect to the TU's switched access service; 2) if the TU has more than 50,000 and less than 150,000 access lines in this state, the TU is subject to the reasonable service and rates duty and the PSC unreasonable service authority, but only with respect to the TU's switched access service.

If a TU has 150,000 or more access lines in this state, the TU's intrastate access service rates may not exceed the TU's interstate access service rates for similar access services, except that the TU is not allowed to assess an intrastate carrier common line charge or a substitute charge. Except to enforce the foregoing requirements, the bill provides that the PSC may not review or set the access rates for a TU with 150,000 or more access lines in this state. In addition, the foregoing requirements regarding a TU with 150,000 or more access lines in this state do not apply to a TU that recertifies as a TU but is regulated like an ATU.

In addition, the bill provides that any reduction in switched access service rates ordered by the PSC prior to the bill's effective date remain effective unless modified by the PSC in a subsequent order.

Wholesale telecommunications service. The bill allows the PSC to impose on an ATU, but only with respect to wholesale telecommunications service, the reasonable service and rates duty and the PSC unreasonable service authority, as well as requirements under current law regarding the PSC's enforcement authority for certain consumer protection requirements (PSC consumer enforcement authority) and the PSC's investigative authority. If the ATU required the PSC to recertify the ATU as an ATU as described above, the PSC may impose the foregoing requirements only if required by the public interest.

In addition, if an ATU is a former TU that recertified as an ATU under the bill, the ATU is subject, with respect to only wholesale telecommunications services, the requirements that the PSC is allowed to impose on an ATU. Those requirements apply with respect to wholesale telecommunications service even if the PSC does not impose them on such an ATU. Also, those requirements apply to a TU with respect to wholesale telecommunications service, regardless of whether the TU elects to certify as an ATU or recertify as a TU that is regulated like an ATU.

TARIFFS

The bill allows a TU or ATU to do any of the following: 1) retain on file with PSC tariffs showing the service rates, tolls, and charges the TU or ATU has established; 2) withdraw or change the rates, terms, or conditions of a tariff filed with the PSC; or 3) file new tariffs with the PSC. If a TU or ATU files a new tariff, the tariff must include all terms and conditions that apply to services specified in the tariff, as well as the service rates. In addition, the new tariff is effective as specified in the tariff, unless the PSC, with ten days after the filing, suspends the new tariff. The PSC may modify the new tariff only to the extent permitted by the PSC's authority over the TU or ATU, and only after granting the TU or ATU an opportunity for a hearing. If the PSC fails to comply with deadlines in the bill regarding the new tariff, the new tariff is effective as filed.

The bill also provides that a proposed change in a tariff is effective as specified in the tariff, except for changes that constitute increases in switched access service rates. If an increase mirrors interstate switched access service rates, the increase goes into effect on the tenth day after the change in the tariff is filed, unless the PSC suspends the rate increase and initiates an investigation. Other increases in switched access rates are not effective until the PSC approves the increase, based on specified public interest factors, after an opportunity for hearing.

In addition, the bill allows a tariff for a service which permits a TU or ATU to enter into an individual contract with an individual customer under rates, terms, or conditions that are different from those specified for the service in the tariff. Except for such an individual contract, the bill prohibits a TU or ATU from receiving for a service more or less compensation than that specified for the service in the tariff, and prohibits a TU or ATU from receiving compensation for a service that is not specified in a tariff. Also, copies of tariffs filed under the bill must be made available to consumers in a form and place readily accessible to the public.

INTERCONNECTED VOIP SERVICE

With certain exceptions, the bill provides that interconnected VOIP service is exempt from PSC regulation. The bill provides that interconnected VOIP has the same meaning as under federal law, which is a service requiring a broadband connection and Internet protocol-compatible customer premises equipment that allows the user to engage in real-time, two-way communication over the public switched telephone network. One exception to the exemption is that a person who provides active retail voice communications service, who also provides interconnected VOIP service, must make contributions to the state universal service fund based on its revenues from providing the service. The bill specifies the methods for calculating the revenues. Another exception is that, unless otherwise provided under federal law, interconnected VOIP services are subject to intrastate access charges to the same extent as telecommunications utilities are subject to the charges. Under additional exceptions, providers of interconnected VOIP service must impose the monthly police and fire protection fee on its customers and pay assessments for DATCP enforcement of certain consumer protection requirements.

UNIVERSAL SERVICE

Current law requires the PSC to promulgate rules that define a basic set of essential telecommunications services that must be available to all customers at affordable prices and that are a necessary component of universal service. Current law also requires the PSC to promulgate rules that define a set of advanced service capabilities that must be available to all areas of this state at affordable prices within a reasonable time and that are a necessary component of universal service. The essential services and advanced service capabilities must be based on market, social, economic development, and infrastructure development principles rather than on specific technologies or providers.

This bill repeals the foregoing requirements and requires instead that certain telecommunications providers must make available to their customers all essential telecommunications services. The bill defines “essential telecommunications services” as services or functionalities determined by the FCC to be eligible for support by federal universal service support mechanisms. The bill’s requirements apply to a telecommunications provider that provides basic local exchange service or that is designated under federal law as a telecommunications carrier eligible to receive support from the federal universal service fund. Also, the bill provides that a telecommunications provider may provide essential telecommunications services itself or through an affiliate or through the use of any available technology or mode.

BASIC VOICE SERVICE

The bill requires an ILEC to make basic voice service available to all residential and small business customers within the ILEC’s local exchange area. “Basic voice service” is defined, in part, as two-way voice communication service within a local calling area, and “small business customer” is defined as a business with three or fewer telephone lines. In providing basic voice service, an ILEC must also provide a customer the ability to utilize a dial-up Internet access service or an equivalent service. The bill allows an ILEC to provide basic voice service through an affiliate, or through the use of interconnected VOIP service or any available technology or mode.

The bill also allows an ILEC to apply to the PSC for a waiver from the foregoing requirements. The PSC must grant a waiver if the waiver is in the public interest or effective competition exists in the local exchange area. If the PSC fails to meet a 120-day deadline based on the filing of a waiver request, the PSC is considered to have granted the waiver. In addition, the PSC must grant a waiver if the PSC previously found that effective competition existed. However, the PSC may not grant a waiver based on a previous finding until after May 1, 2011. The bill also provides that decisions of the PSC prior to the effective date of the bill that eliminate an ILEC's provider of last resort obligations remain in force and effect. Finally, the bill provides that none of the bill's basic voice service requirements apply after April 30, 2015.

OTHER CHANGES

The bill repeals a requirement under current law for TUs and other telecommunications providers to provide, with certain exceptions, access services under tariffs under the same rates, terms, and conditions to all telecommunications providers. "Access service" is defined under current law, in part, as the provision of switched or dedicated access to a local exchange network for the purpose of enabling a telecommunications provider to originate or terminate telecommunications service. The bill also repeals a prohibition under current law on a TU, with respect to its regulated services, or a telecommunications provider, with respect to its offering of local exchange services, from giving preference or discriminating in the provision of services, products, or facilities to an affiliate or to the consumer retail department of the TU, telecommunications provider, or affiliate. Under current law, the foregoing prohibition applies to the extent the preference or discrimination is prohibited under federal law or the PSC's rules.

10 (c) File with the commission new tariffs showing the rates, tolls, and charges
11 which the telecommunications utility, including an alternative telecommunications
12 utility, has established, as provided in the tariff filings, for some or all of the services
13 performed by the telecommunications utility, including an alternative
14 telecommunications utility, within the state or for any service in connection
15 therewith or performed by any telecommunications utility, including an alternative 16 telecommunications utility, controlled or operated by the telecommunications utility,
17 including an alternative telecommunications utility. If a telecommunications utility,
18 including an alternative telecommunications utility, files a new tariff under this 19 paragraph, all of the following apply:

20 1. The new tariff shall become effective on the date specified in the tariff, unless 21 the commission suspends the operation of the new tariff upon serving a written 22 notice of the suspension on the telecommunications utility, including an alternative 23 telecommunications utility, within 10 days after the date of filing. The notice shall 24 include a statement of the reason under subd. 2. upon which the commission believes 25 the tariff may be modified.

ENGROSSED ASSEMBLY BILL 696

1 2. The commission may modify the new tariff after an opportunity for a hearing,
2 only to the extent permitted by ss. 196.203 and 196.50 (2) (i) and (j).

3 3. If the commission does not conduct a hearing under subd. 2., the commission
4 shall issue its final order within 60 days after issuing the notice of suspension under 5 subd. 1. If the commission conducts a hearing, the commission shall issue its final
6 order within 120 days after issuing the notice of suspension under subd. 1. If a final
7 order is not issued within the time limits specified in this subdivision, the new tariff
8 becomes effective as filed.

9 (2) Nothing in this section shall give the commission jurisdiction over the rates
10 or terms and conditions of any service that is not subject to a tariff under sub. (1).

11 (3) Every telecommunications utility, including an alternative
12 telecommunications utility, that files a tariff with the commission under this section
13 shall include all terms and conditions that apply to the services specified in the tariff
14 and the rates charged or to be charged.

15 (4) A telecommunications utility, including an alternative telecommunications
16 utility, may withdraw a tariff for any service by providing notice to the commission.

17 (5) (a) Except as provided in par. (b), a proposed change in a tariff shall be 18 effective at the time specified in the tariff as filed with the commission.

19 (b) No change in a tariff which constitutes an increase in switched access 20 service rates may be made unless the change is consistent with the public interest 21 factors set forth in s. 196.03 (6) and the commission by order, after investigation and 22 opportunity for a hearing, approves the change, except that an increase in switched 23 access service rates to mirror interstate switched access service rates shall go into 24 effect on the 10th day after the change in the tariff is filed, unless the commission,

ENGROSSED ASSEMBLY BILL 696

1 before that day, suspends the rate increase and initiates an investigation under this 2 paragraph.

3 (6) Nothing in this chapter prohibits a tariff for a service which permits a 4 telecommunications utility, including an alternative telecommunications utility, to 5 enter into an individual contract with an individual customer for that tariffed service
6 that includes rates, terms, and conditions that are different from those in the tariff.

7 (7) Except as provided in sub. (6), no telecommunications utility, including an 8 alternative telecommunications utility, may charge, demand, collect, or receive more 9 or less compensation for any service for which a tariff is filed under this section than 10 is specified in the tariff, as may at the time be in force, or demand, collect, or receive 11 any rate, toll, or charge for such service not specified in the tariff.

12 (8) A copy of the tariffs filed under this section shall be made available to 13 consumers in a form and place readily accessible to the public.

14 SECTION 13m. 196.194 (1) of the statutes is repealed.

15 SECTION 13q. 196.194 (2) (title) of the statutes is repealed.

16 SECTION 13s. 196.194 (2) of the statutes is renumbered 196.194 and amended 17 to read:

18 196.194 Public Gas utility individual contracts. Nothing in ss. 196.03, 19 196.19, 196.20, 196.21, 196.22, 196.37, 196.60, 196.604 and 196.625 prohibits the 20 commission from approving the filing of a tariff which permits a gas utility to enter
21 into an individual contract with an individual customer if the term of the contract
22 is no more than 5 years, or a longer period approved by the commission, and if the 23 commission determines that substitute gas services are available to customers or 24 potential customers of the gas utility and the absence of such a tariff will cause the 25 gas utility to be disadvantaged in competing for business. A tariff filed under this

ENGROSSED ASSEMBLY BILL 696

1 subsection section shall include the condition that any such contract shall be
2 compensatory. The tariff shall include any other condition and procedure required
3 by the commission in the public interest. Within 20 days after a contract authorized
4 under this ~~subsection~~ section or an amendment to such a contract has been executed,
5 the gas utility shall submit the contract to the commission. The commission shall 6 give notice to any person, upon request, that a contract authorized under this 7 ~~subsection~~ section has been received by the commission. The notice shall identify the 8 gas utility that has entered into the contract. Within 6 months after receiving 9 substantial evidence that a contract may be noncompensatory, or upon its own 10 motion, the commission shall investigate and determine whether the contract is 11 compensatory. If the commission determines that the contract is noncompensatory,
12 the commission may make appropriate adjustments in the rates or tariffs of the gas
13 utility that has entered into the contract, in addition to other remedies under this 14 chapter. The dollar amount of the adjustment may not be less than the amount by 15 which the contract was found to be noncompensatory.

16 SECTION 14. 196.195 (1) of the statutes is amended to read:

17 196.195 (1) REGULATION IMPOSED. Except as provided in this section and ss.
18 196.202, 196.203, ~~196.215 and~~, 196.219, and 196.50 (2) (i), a telecommunications
19 utility is subject to every applicable provision of this chapter and ch. 201.

20 SECTION 15. 196.195 (5) of the statutes is amended to read:

21 196.195 (5) COMMISSION ACTION. If after the proceedings under subs. (2), (3) and 22 (4) the commission has determined that effective competition exists in the market 23 for the telecommunications service which justifies a lesser degree of regulation and 24 that lesser regulation in that market will serve the public interest, the commission 25 may, by order, suspend any ~~of the following~~ provisions of law ch. 201, except as

ENGROSSED ASSEMBLY BILL 696

1 provided under subs. (7) and (8): ~~ch. 201 and s. 196.02 (2); s. 196.05; s. 196.06; s.~~

5 ~~196.78; s. 196.79; and s. 196.805.~~

6 SECTION 16. 196.195 (12) (a) of the statutes is amended to read:

7 196.195 (12) (a) To provide incentives for telecommunications utilities to 8 achieve any of the goals listed in par. (b) 1. a., the commission may suspend any of 9 the provisions listed in sub. (5) except ss. 196.19, 196.20 (1m), 196.22, 196.26, 196.37, 10 196.60 and 196.604 of ch. 201 or may approve a regulatory method alternative to 11 traditional rate-of-return regulation that does not require suspension of any 12 provisions listed in sub. (5).

13 SECTION 17. 196.195 (12) (b) 3. of the statutes is amended to read:

14 196.195 (12) (b) 3. The commission shall regulate telecommunications utilities
15 with the goal of developing alternative forms of regulation. The commission shall,
16 by order, develop and approve an incentive regulatory plan for each
17 telecommunications utility to implement this subdivision. The commission may not 18 increase regulation of a small telecommunications utility in implementing this 19 subdivision. ~~For telecommunications utilities with more than 150,000 access lines~~
20 ~~in use in this state, s. 196.196 (2) applies to access service rates in any regulatory plan~~
21 ~~approved under this subdivision.~~

22 SECTION 18. 196.196 of the statutes is repealed.

23 SECTION 19. 196.198 (2) (a) of the statutes is renumbered 196.198 (2) and 24 amended to read:

ENGROSSED ASSEMBLY BILL 696

1 196.198 (2) Except as provided in sub. (3), a telecommunications utility that
2 has more than 150,000 access lines in use in this state or a telecommunications
3 provider that has more than 150,000 access lines in use in this state may not charge
4 a residential customer for basic local exchange service based on the duration of a call
5 or on the time of day that a call is made. This ~~paragraph~~ subsection does not apply
6 to an extended community telephone service.

7 SECTION 20. 196.198 (2) (b) of the statutes is repealed.

8 SECTION 21. 196.198 (3) (intro.) of the statutes is amended to read:

9 196.198 (3) (intro.) The commission may suspend the application of sub. (2) (a)

17 196.198 (3) (b) (intro.) Suspending the application of sub. (2) (a) is beneficial

23 utility in its schedules except by filing the change as proposed with the commission.
24 ~~Except for a telecommunications utility, no~~ No change in any public utility rule which 25 purports to curtail the obligation or undertaking of service of the public utility shall

2 that the commission, by emergency order, may make the rule, as filed, effective from 3 the date of the order, pending final approval of the rule after hearing.

ENGROSSED ASSEMBLY BILL 696

1 196.203 (1g) Alternative telecommunications utilities are exempt from all

3 that an alternative telecommunications utility is subject to ~~s. ss. 196.025 (6) and~~
4 196.206 and may elect to subject itself to s. 196.191, and except that an alternative 5 telecommunications utility that is a local government telecommunications utility, ~~as~~ 6 ~~defined in s. 196.204 (5) (ag) 1.,~~ is subject to s. 196.204 (5).

7 SECTION 34. 196.203 (1d) of the statutes is created to read:

11 amended to read:

12 196.203 (2) (a) No person may commence providing service as an alternative 13 telecommunications utility unless the person petitions for and the commission issues

3 SECTION 36m. 196.203 (2) (c) of the statutes is created to read:

4 196.203 (2) (c) An alternative telecommunications utility may provide notice
5 to the commission to maintain certification as an alternative telecommunications
6 utility but to recertify the alternative telecommunications utility and impose on the 7 alternative telecommunications utility only those provisions of this chapter specified

15 granting of the recertification shall operate to terminate the alternative
16 telecommunications utility's prior certification, and all regulatory requirements 17 related to the prior certification, including all such requirements imposed by the

7 that ~~any a~~ provision of ~~ch. 201~~ or this chapter specified in sub. (4m) be imposed on 8 a person providing or proposing to provide service as an alternative 9 telecommunications utility ~~in a relevant market~~. In making this determination, the 10 commission may consider factors including the quality of service, customer
11 complaints, concerns about the effect on customers of local exchange
12 telecommunications utilities and the extent to which similar services are available
13 from alternative sources. If the commission imposes a provision of this chapter 14 specified in sub. (4m) (a) on an alternative telecommunications utility under this 15 subsection, the commission shall impose the same provision at the same level of 16 regulation on all other alternative telecommunications utilities.
