

ASSEMBLY SUBSTITUTE AMENDMENT 1, TO 2009 ASSEMBLY BILL 928

April 19, 2010 – Offered by Representatives PARISI and SINICKI.

1 AN ACT to amend 101.02 (20) (a) and 101.02 (21) (a); and to create 15.157 (16),
2 101.138 and 101.19 (1) (n) of the statutes; relating to: licensing of individuals
3 using cranes and heavy equipment, granting rule-making authority, requiring 4 the exercise of rule-making authority, and providing a penalty.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

The Department of Commerce (Commerce) issues various licenses, permits, registrations, and other credentials to individuals engaged in the construction trades, such as to electricians and plumbers.

This substitute amendment requires Commerce to issue licenses for the operation of cranes and certain pieces of heavy equipment. The substitute amendment defines a piece of “heavy equipment” to be a piece of equipment that weighs at least 26,000 pounds and that is used to do certain construction activities. The substitute amendment requires that Commerce promulgate a rule that contains an initial listing of specific types of equipment for which a license is necessary (regulated heavy equipment). The substitute amendment establishes a crane and heavy equipment council (council) which may make recommendations to Commerce on specific types of equipment that may be added to the list by rule. The council may make other recommendations to Commerce for rules relating to the operation of cranes and heavy equipment. Certain types of cranes and specific pieces of heavy equipment are totally exempt from licensure regulation and may not be added to the list promulgated by Commerce.

The substitute amendment creates four different licenses: a crane operator license, a heavy equipment operator license, an apprentice crane operator license, and an apprentice heavy equipment operator license. For all four of these licenses, an individual must be at least 18 years old at the time the license is issued and may not have had any license or other permission to operate a crane or any piece of heavy equipment suspended or revoked by Commerce or by another comparable licensing agency, and must meet certain training and experience requirements.

For the crane operator license, an individual must have obtained certification from an accredited program that certifies crane operators, and have successfully completed an apprenticeship program that is recognized by the U.S. Department of Labor. He or she must also have 1,000 hours of experience in the five-year period immediately preceding the date of application for the license or 5,000 hours of experience during his or her lifetime. The substitute amendment imposes requirements as to the maximum amount of hours that may be counted as “crane-related experience” as opposed to hours spent actually operating a crane. Under the substitute amendment, hours of “crane-related experience” includes hours spent in receiving or giving instruction through a recognized apprenticeship program and hours spent at a work site doing activities that increase an individual’s knowledge and skill in crane operation.

For a license to operate regulated heavy equipment, an individual must have completed an apprenticeship program that is recognized by the U.S. Department of Labor. He or she must also have 1,000 hours experience in the five-year period immediately preceding the date of application for the license or 5,000 hours of experience during his or her lifetime. The substitute amendment imposes requirements as to the maximum number of hours that may be counted as experience operating unregulated heavy equipment as opposed to hours spent operating regulated heavy equipment. Unregulated heavy equipment are pieces of heavy equipment for which a license is not necessary.

The crane operator and heavy equipment operator licenses are valid for five years and are renewable if an individual has operated cranes or regulated heavy equipment for at least 1,000 hours during the period of the license and has not had the license suspended or revoked and has not violated any law relating to the operation of cranes or heavy equipment.

For an apprentice crane operator license or apprentice heavy equipment operator license, the individual must be enrolled in a training program recognized by the U.S. Department of Labor. These two apprenticeship licenses are valid for four years.

The licensing requirements apply only to public works projects where prevailing wage requirements apply. Under the current prevailing wage law, certain laborers, workers, mechanics, and truck drivers employed on a state or local project of public works must be paid at the rate paid for a majority of the hours worked in the person’s trade or occupation in the county in which the project is located, as determined by the Department of Workforce Development.

The substitute amendment provides that if there are standards established by the federal Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) that apply to licensing operators of cranes or heavy equipment, the licensing requirements created in this substitute amendment may not be implemented unless Commerce receives federal approval.
