2009 SENATE BILL 670

April 7, 2010 - Introduced by Senator TAYLOR, cosponsored by Representative TURNER. Referred to Committee on Judiciary, Corrections, Insurance, Campaign Finance Reform, and Housing.

1 AN ACT to create 854.30 of the statutes; relating to: disposal of decedent's
2 property.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

The federal estate tax, which includes provisions related to the generation-skipping tax, was repealed for calendar year 2010 only. This bill addresses the administration of wills and trusts of decedents who died in calendar year 2010 that were created in the expectation that the federal estate tax would continue in 2010.

Under the bill, if the will or trust of an individual who dies in calendar year 2010 includes a formula that disposes of certain of the decedents property by reference to the federal estate tax, the federal generation-skipping tax, or both, the will or trust will be administered as if the provisions of the federal estate tax and federal generation-skipping transfer tax were in force just as they were on December 31, 2009. However, the bill provides exceptions from that treatment, allowing the applicable exclusion amount for decedents' estates and the federal generation-skipping transfer tax exemption to be considered unlimited, if all of the following circumstances apply:

1. The decedent is survived by a spouse.
2. If the decedent is survived by issue, all issue of the decedent are also issue of the surviving spouse.
3. The surviving spouse is a current income beneficiary of each trust funded in whole or in part by the formula, or the sole beneficiary of any other property subject to disposition by the formula which does not pass in trust.

SENATE BILL 670

Under the bill, a personal representative of the decedent’s estate, trustee, or beneficiary of the decedent’s trust or will, or surviving spouse may petition the circuit court to allow the formula for distributing the decedent’s property to be applied in a manner different from that described above. The bill allows the court to consider the overall dispositive plan of the decedent, the tax implications of an alternative disposition, and the decedent’s intentions, when determining how to respond to that petition.

The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:

1 SECTION 1. 854.30 of the statutes is created to read:
