Description An individual income tax credit for the sales and use taxes paid on self-service laundry services

Assumptions Used in Arriving at Fiscal Estimate

Under current law, laundry, dry cleaning, pressing and dyeing services are exempt from sales and use tax when performed using a coin-operated, self-service machine. Under the bill, an individual may claim an individual income tax credit in an amount equal to the amount of state sales and use taxes that the individual paid in the taxable year on laundry, dry cleaning, pressing and dyeing services performed by the individual using self-service machines.

Since laundry services are currently exempt when performed using a coin-operated machine, the new credit would apply only to sales taxes paid on purchases of self-service laundry services using debit cards, smart cards, tokens, and other non-coin means of payment.

According to the U .S. Census, receipts of coin-operated laundries in Wisconsin were $25.656 million in 2002. Although nationwide receipts of coin-operated laundries decreased from 2001 to 2004, Wisconsin receipts are assumed to have remained constant at $25.656 million per year.

According to the Wisconsin Self-Service Laundry Association, non-coin payments are about 2-3% of total receipts. Assuming non-coin payments are 2.5% of total receipts, customers of self-service laundries would pay state sales taxes of $32,000 ($$25.656 \text{ mil.} \times 2.5\% \times 5\%$) per year. Depending on the amount of credits claimed, income taxes would decrease by up to $32,000 per year under the bill.

The administrative costs of the bill are minimal and would be absorbed.
