Assumptions Used in Arriving at Fiscal Estimate

Under current Wisconsin law, taxpayers are allowed to donate to any of seven charitable funds listed in their individual income tax returns. The designated donation amount either increases the payment due at the time the return is filed or decreases the amount that is refunded to the taxpayer.

Under this bill, a new charitable check-off would be created for Wisconsin food banks that are members of Feeding America. The total donations, less the cost of administering the check-off, are to be used for food banks in Wisconsin that are members of Feeding America.

Historical data show that the introduction of a new check-off is generally associated with an increase in total donations and a decrease in donations to previously existing check-offs. For example, the Breast Cancer Research check-off was added to individual income tax forms in 2004 and raised $330,000. Donations to previously existing funds decreased by $150,000. In tax year 2005, the Veterans Trust Fund check-off was added to individual income tax forms and raised $130,000. Donations to the other check-off funds decreased during that year by $110,000.

The extent to which individual charities raise money, depends on their popularity, the substitutability of previously existing charity check-offs, and the general economic climate. Although, the effect of the Wisconsin food banks check-off is not known, it is expected that a portion of its donations will come from new donors and a portion will be the result of taxpayers substituting donations from other check-off charities.
